Curfew Helps Restore Quiet After Rioting

Angry Mobs Roam Dominican Streets After 2 Are Freed

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Streets in the Dominican capital were cleared Thursday night by a dusk-to-dawn curfew after mobs went on a rampage because the government let ex-President Joaquin Balaguer and Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria leave the country.

Some of the mob fury was directed at the United States with charges that the State Department was behind the leniency. But a Dominican government source said their presence here represented a threat to the tranquility of the nation.

Balaguer, 55, and Rodriguez Echavarria, 37, who served under him as armed forces chief, were secretly flown to Puerto Rico. Angry crowds formed when their getaway became known. The demonstrators shouted that the two men linked with the old Trujillo dictatorship should have been brought to trial.

Gangs roamed the streets, setting fire to automobiles and wrecking other property. They massed in front of the U.S. Consulate, burned two consulate cars and damaged two others.

Armed police patrols rushed out to check the demonstrations and most business places closed. Schoolchildren were sent home early.

Balaguer and Rodriguez Echavarria slipped out of the country Wednesday night.

Balaguer told newsmen in San Juan he was glad to get out of the Dominican Republic at the present time but hoped to return to politics at home in a year or two.

Murder Trial Venire 'Melts'

Only 47 Remain For Case Monday

A special venire of 75 persons summoned for a first degree murder trial scheduled to begin Monday at Lisbon has dwindled to 47, Prosecuting Atty. G. William Brokaw said.

Prospective jurors have been excused because of illness, emergencies or other reasons.

The indictment is against William P. Boyd Jr., 22, of Pennsylvania Ave. Ext., East Liverpool, and is the county's first first degree murder charge since 1957.

Boyd is charged with slaying his estranged wife, Nancy Lee, 18, last Nov. 5 on a Beaver Creek hillside east of Calcutta. Authorities found her body Nov. 15 after an anonymous phone call from a hunter.

She had been beaten with a tire iron and shot in the head with a shotgun. In a confession to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan, Boyd said he quarreled with his wife over her conduct with other men.

Boyd will be represented by Atty. Robert Kapp and Atty. Ben Berman, both of East Liverpool. They were appointed by the court.

House Kills Bill To Add Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proving that some of the best-laid political plans can come a cropper, the House has killed a bill to increase its membership from 435 to 438.

A voice vote returning the measure to a committee pigeonhole Thursday climaxed one of the most hectic and confused House sessions in years.

The bill would have given Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Missouri one more House seat than they will be entitled to under 1960 census figures.

The measure suddenly lost so much of its carefully arranged support that backers couldn't even muster the 80 votes needed for a rollcall.

Just before the final action, its one-time champion, Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, disavowed his support because of an amendment that would have forced the calling of special sessions of the legislatures in the three states to redistrict their congressional seats. Failure to call such a session or to enact redistricting laws would have required all House candidates from the three states to run on a statewide basis.

The amendment was offered by the bill's author and floor manager, Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., and it caught friends and foes by surprise although it had been discussed in previous committee sessions.

Walter, who said that the bill was dead as far as he was concerned, told reporters he offered the amendment because he made a commitment to Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

The commitment, which Halleck acknowledged, was that a new redistricting law in Pennsylvania would salvage the seat of veteran Ivor D. Fenton, Republican, whose re-election was in doubt under a redistricting law already passed in Pennsylvania.

It was to help Fenton that Halleck rallied GOP support for the bill. The purpose of the amendment was to make certain that Fenton would be taken care of.

Other Pennsylvanians, however feared that the legislature might fail to enact a new redistricting law and force them to run on a statewide race. Generally it is considered more hazardous politically to campaign statewide instead of in a familiar district. Also, it is more expensive.

When the Pennsylvanians couldn't agree, McCormack pulled the props from under the bill. He told newsmen there had been an understanding that the governor of Pennsylvania, Democrat David Lawrence, would call a special legislative session. Presumably, McCormack opposed enforcement of a gentlemen's agreement by act of Congress.

The amendment, adopted 128 to 54, also would have required a special session of the Missouri legislature to map out new districts. The state already has redistricted on the assumption it would lose one seat in the House.

Massachusetts has not yet redistricted.

Without the amendment, the extra seat allotted to each of the three states would have been filled in a statewide election unless new districts were carved out.

The House beat efforts to further increase its size to take care of some of the other 13 states losing seats because of reapportionment based on the 1960 census.

Until the Pennsylvania disagreement developed, the House appeared in a mood to pass the bill according to well-laid plans.

These plans developed several months ago when Democratic and Republican leaders reached agreement on a three-seat increase to restore losses for the three states involved.

Pair Injured As Car Skids On Icy Road

Motorist Will Face Drunk Driving In Mishap On Dresden

A Pennsylvania couple was injured Thursday night at 10:07 when their auto skidded off Dresden Ave. near the city limits and crashed into an embankment, police reported.

Both in "fair" condition today at City Hospital, the injured are: Franklin P. Young, 44, the driver, and his wife, Mrs. Ethel May Young, 49, of Uniontown.

Police charged Young with driving while under the influence of alcohol as an aftermath of the collision about 150 feet east of the city limits. His Municipal Court hearing will await his release from the hospital.

Young suffered a possible fracture of the left shoulder. His wife suffered abrasions and contusions of the lower left leg and knee and the right leg.

Young told police he was driving north about 40 miles an hour when his 1952 sedan hit an icy spot and skidded out of control. Police listed the car as a total loss.

Three cars were damaged in another mishap on Broadway near E. 4th St. Thursday at 11:07 p. m.

A 1955 auto driven by Richard L. Beckwith, 25, of 217 Cherry Alley hit parked autos owned by William Hebron, 238 W. 9th St., and Ethel F. Blackstone of Cherry Alley, officers said.

Beckwith told police he could not straighten up his front wheels after turning south off E. 4th St. onto Broadway, causing him to strike the parked autos. He also said the accelerator of his car stuck.

There was damage to the left front of Beckwith's car, both the left front and rear of Hebron's 1947 sedan and the front end and the right rear of the Blackstone car, a 1953 sedan, officers said.

A belated report also was filed on a crash Wednesday at 10:30 p. m. on W. 6th St. at Jefferson St.

Kathleen Muriel Costello, 17, of 711 Cadmus St. told police a hitskip car struck her 1953 sedan while she was halted for a traffic signal. Although the offending car failed to halt, she obtained the license number and turned it over to the police department.

MacDonald Will Run For New Court Term

LISBON — County Court Judge James L. MacDonald has announced he will be a candidate for re-election to the Southwest District post at Lisbon at the general election, Nov. 6.

Three county court judges will be elected on a non-partisan judicial ticket throughout the county court area, which comprises all of the county except the city of East Liverpool and Liverpool Township.

Storm-Torn States Begin To Mop Up; Federal Aid Looms

Death Toll Reaches 36; Loss Heavy

Kennedy's Action Waited On Outright Federal Grants

By The Associated Press

Residents and authorities of the six-state area battered by the big storm, bolstered by prospects of massive federal aid, have begun mopping up operations after a three-day rampage of wind and water.

The death toll stood at least at 36, with a number of persons missing. Property damages have been estimated at well over $165 million.

The coastal sections of New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina have been declared disaster zones by the Small Business Administration, which grants special, long term loans to property owners.

Outright federal grants must come by proclamation of President Kennedy. Prospects are bright that he will take prompt action.

These grants would go to state and local governmental units for the repair of roads, bridges, schools and other facilities.

The governors of New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia and Maryland already have asked the President to declare their stricken sectors disaster areas.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York has asked Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to petition for

Bandit Gets $280 In Store At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — A worn, chrome-plated revolver was seen today as a link between Thursday night's armed robbery of a N. Market St. clothing store operator and a holdup at a Route 14 night club Saturday.

A well-dressed, dark-haired bandit took $280 from the Johnston's Clothing Store, 64 N. Market St., about 6 last night after pulling a gun on Robert Johnston, 45, the owner.

Johnston, of Negley Rd., said the man came into the store about 5:35 while he was about to close the men's and boys clothing store.

The visitor tried on some suits and a pair of shoes, and even had been pinned for alterations for a new suit. When he changed back into his own clothes, he suddenly pulled out a worn chrome revolver and took Johnston's own money and all but some silver and checks in the cash register.

Johnston said he "talked the man out of tying him up," but was ordered into a rest room.

He was described as about 6-foot-1, between 25 and 30 and weighed about 175. He had black wavy hair and wore a charcoal jacket and gray trousers.

The loot included two $20 bills and the rest in $10, $5 and $1 bills, Johnston said.

Acting Police Chief Wayne Huston and other investigating officers said there was a strong similarity between the holdup and one at the Casa Loma Club on Route 14 Saturday night.

Police said last night's armed robbery was the first in the city for many years, although there have been burglaries in recent years.

$71,116 Increase Reflects Pay Hikes And Carryover

An appropriation totaling $881,781 for the Beaver Local School District was approved by the Board of Education for 1962 at a meeting Thursday night.

This is some $71,116 over the 1961 appropriation of $810,565, due largely to carryover of encumbered funds, along with increased allotments for teacher salaries ($402,000 compared to $380,000 last year) and increases in bond retirement payments ($100,000 compared to $88,000 last year).

Teacher salaries increased due to increment changes and boosts in line with state foundation payments, and bond retirement allotments increased because of additional payments on the $253,000 issue approved last year for new additions.

George VanHorne, executive head, reported bids will be opened Mach 27 for the construction of the additions, and the board will be called into special session later that week to consider the offers.

Weirton Firms Face Trial Over Blue Law

WELLSBURG — Brooke County Circuit Court will hold trials March 21 for two Weirton establishments charged with violation of the state's Sunday-closing law.

Dealer's Car Found; Police Check Leads

A brand new $3,000 sedan stolen a week ago from an East End dealer's showroom was found abandoned Thursday night at 8:30 on Ravine St., police reported.

Patrolmen Charles E. (Bill) Tice and Kenneth Mooney confirmed that the auto spotted by a curious passerby was the 1962 Mercury four-door sedan taken the night of March 1-2 by burglars who invaded the Arb Motor Sales building on Pennsylvania Ave., officers said.

Chief Americo J. Radeschi said officers are checking a series of clues in the theft.

Charles Sell, 316 Ogden St., visiting on Ravine St., spotted the auto in the 100 block and remembered accounts of its theft which he had read in The Review, officers said. He phoned police, who investigated and verified that it was the dealer's missing auto.

The auto was removed to police headquarters for examination and then returned to Arb Motors. Police said the auto apparently was abandoned sometime after midnight Wednesday. Officers who had been in the vicinity then said they had not noted the car at that time.

There was no way of determining how far the auto had been driven by the thief, as the speedometer was disconnected, police said. At the time the auto was taken out of the showroom, the speedometer read approximately three miles.

Various discarded items were found in the auto, including a big screwdriver, a potato chip sack, a candy wrapper and a paper matchbook. Ashtrays had been removed from both the front and back seat compartments, police said.

The auto was taken by a burglar who broke into the garage building and ransacked the parts room and the office.

Chief Americo J. Radeschi said officers are checking a series of clues in the theft.

Charles Sell, 316 Ogden St., visiting on Ravine St., spotted the auto in the 100 block and remembered accounts of its theft which he had read in The Review, officers said. He phoned police, who investigated and verified that it was the dealer's missing auto.

The auto was removed to police headquarters for examination and then returned to Arb Motors. Police said the auto apparently was abandoned sometime after midnight Wednesday. Officers who had been in the vicinity then said they had not noted the car at that time.

There was no way of determining how far the auto had been driven by the thief, as the speedometer was disconnected, police said. At the time the auto was taken out of the showroom, the speedometer read approximately three miles.

Various discarded items were found in the auto, including a big screwdriver, a potato chip sack, a candy wrapper and a paper matchbook. Ashtrays had been removed from both the front and back seat compartments, police said.

The auto was taken by a burglar who broke into the garage building and ransacked the parts room and the office.

Councilmen, Mayor Clash At Wellsville

Proposal For Joint City-Mail Building Subject Of Dispute

Four members of Wellsville City Council Thursday night clashed with Mayor William Daugherty over his earlier recommendation that the city should proceed with a previous proposal of constructing a combination City Hall and Post Office.

Council had the proposal under consideration but at its meeting Feb. 7 it voted to drop the plan and inform postal authorities to "erect a Post Office wherever they wated."

Mayor Daugherty, speaking before the Wellsville Kiwanis Club the following week, advocated the proposal be reconsidered. Last

District May Get Inch Or More Of New Snow

Hardly recovered from Monday's heavy snow, the Tri-State District may get an inch or more new snow today, although forecasts vary as to the total accumulation.

Light snow began falling about 7:30 and the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia said it was advised about an inch was due for Columbiana County, with up to 2 inches in eastern-central Ohio. A forecast at Pittsburgh said it may total 4 inches. The Ohio weatherman at Columbus said merely mixed rain and snow would end tonight.

The highway department sent out a few trucks this morning for preliminary cindering and said all 18 crews would be called out if the snow continued. Temperatures were to range between 36 and 42 today with a low of 28 to 34 tonight.

Driver Killed As Rig Upsets At Weirton

WEIRTON — A Bedford (Pa.) truck driver was killed instantly early today on Weirton Heights when his vehicle went out of control, crashed into two utility poles and overturned.

The accident at 4:20 a. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. caused a power failure in a large section of Weirton Heights served by Monongahela Power Co.

Motorist Pays Costs On Speeding Charge

Donald E. Myers of North Canton was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs when arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour March 2 in a 25-mile zone in the freeway construction area in California Hollow.

Judge Chertoff ordered Myers to pay the $7.50 costs. Myers told the court he was unaware of the limit because warning signs along that stretch of Routes 7 and 30 "were mostly splattered with mud." He said the last sign he saw before entering the construction zone listed a 45-mile limit. Myers was cited by the State Highway Patrol. He pleaded "no contest."

Meanwhile, Raymond E. Benson, 28, of Fairmount R. D. 4 was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving the wrong way in a one-way stretch of Diamond Alley. He was cited at 4:39 this morning, police said.

Board Issues Reminder On Voter Signup

The County Election Board today reminded East Liverpool residents that March 28 is the deadline for registration for the May 8 primary election.

Although the deadline is only a little more than two weeks away, there has been no rush to qualify, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, commented.

East Liverpool is the only county subdivision where voter registration is required. Registration in Ohio is permanent and need not be renewed unless: You have not voted at least once in the last two calendar years; you have moved since you have registered, or you have changed your name by marriage or court action.

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has been in Ohio for a year and in the county and precinct for 40 days.

The registration deadline falls at 9 p.m. on March 28. To supplement registration at its office on W. 6th Sts., the board will establish branch offices in Pleasant Heights, East End and North Side for the final day of the enrollment.

The board expects to ask the Board of Education for permission to use the Pleasant Heights School as one of the enrollment centers. The city administration will be asked for use of the North Side fire station for the registration center in that area. For East End, the board expects to rent one of its usual voting places in the Louis-James Store on Mulberry St.

The branch registration offices will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 4 to 9 p.m. on the last day for registration. But electors may register any day at the office on W. 6th St., O'Hanlon emphasized.

Two registrars, one from each major political party, will be assigned to duty in the branch offices.

An advance supply of ballots is scheduled to be delivered to the board today from the Wellsville Publishing Co., contractors. They will be used to fill demands for absentee ballots for service personnel and their spouses — if qualified — and civilians residing temporarily outside the U.S. The so-called "soldier ballots" became available today under Ohio law.

April 8 will be the first day for issuance of regular civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots.

Auto Battery Stolen

LISBON — A battery and two cables valued at $35.67 were stolen from a new Ford Galaxie early Thursday at the parking lot of Bud Shaffer Ford, Inc., just north of Salem city limits. The owner reported the theft yesterday to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

City And Chester Autos In Crash

Cars operated by drivers from East Liverpool and Chester were involved in a crash Thursday afternoon at 2:35 at 5th and Washington Sts. in Newell, Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported today.

The mishap involved a 1959 model sedan driven by Robert Sheridan Cline, 73, of 559 Carolina Ave., Chester, and a 1958 two-door sedan of Geraldine Smith, 35, of 833 Riverview St., East Liverpool.

Deputies said Cline pulled from 5th St. onto Washington St. into the path of the city woman's south-bound car.

Cline told investigating officers that his view of Washington St. to the north was obstructed by a truck parked in front of a grocery store on the corner. Witnesses corroborated his claim, deputies said, and no charges were filed.

Patrol Reports Area Roads Slick

Area roads were reported wet and slippery in spots, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon, but no accidents had been reported up to 11:30 a. m.

Two mishaps occurred Thursday, officers said.

George Thompson, 42, of Columbiana was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol after his car veered off County Rd. 416 south of Washingtonville and rammed a sign then overturned about 10:45 p. m. He was not hurt, officers said.

A semi-trailer truck driven by Leland R. Stanonik, 36, of New Waterford R. D. 2 went off Route 30 in the Cannons Mills area yesterday afternoon and apparently bumped a metal guardrail, although officers said the rail may have been damaged previously. Damage was minor.

2 District Motorists Draw Court Penalty

Two area motorists were among four penalized at traffic hearings held Thursday by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine.

Charlotte Smith of Air Beacon Rd. forfeited a $15 appearance bond on a charge of speeding. Walter Galloway, 807 Dewey Ave., was fined $10 and costs for following too closely.

Kenneth McCullough, 219 W. Washington St., Lisbon, was fined $10 and costs for operating an unsafe vehicle, and George Ruscoe of East Palestine R. D. 1 $20 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Driver Killed As Rig Upsets At Weirton

WEIRTON — A Bedford (Pa.) truck driver was killed instantly early today on Weirton Heights when his vehicle went out of control, crashed into two utility poles and overturned.

The accident at 4:20 a. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. caused a power failure in a large section of Weirton Heights served by Monongahela Power Co.

Motorist Pays Costs On Speeding Charge

Donald E. Myers of North Canton was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs when arraigned today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour March 2 in a 25-mile zone in the freeway construction area in California Hollow.

Judge Chertoff ordered Myers to pay the $7.50 costs. Myers told the court he was unaware of the limit because warning signs along that stretch of Routes 7 and 30 "were mostly splattered with mud." He said the last sign he saw before entering the construction zone listed a 45-mile limit. Myers was cited by the State Highway Patrol. He pleaded "no contest."

Meanwhile, Raymond E. Benson, 28, of Fairmount R. D. 4 was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to driving the wrong way in a one-way stretch of Diamond Alley. He was cited at 4:39 this morning, police said.

Board Issues Reminder On Voter Signup

The County Election Board today reminded East Liverpool residents that March 28 is the deadline for registration for the May 8 primary election.

Although the deadline is only a little more than two weeks away, there has been no rush to qualify, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, commented.

East Liverpool is the only county subdivision where voter registration is required. Registration in Ohio is permanent and need not be renewed unless: You have not voted at least once in the last two calendar years; you have moved since you have registered, or you have changed your name by marriage or court action.

A new resident is qualified to vote after he has been in Ohio for a year and in the county and precinct for 40 days.

The registration deadline falls at 9 p.m. on March 28. To supplement registration at its office on W. 6th Sts., the board will establish branch offices in Pleasant Heights, East End and North Side for the final day of the enrollment.

The board expects to ask the Board of Education for permission to use the Pleasant Heights School as one of the enrollment centers. The city administration will be asked for use of the North Side fire station for the registration center in that area. For East End, the board expects to rent one of its usual voting places in the Louis-James Store on Mulberry St.

The branch registration offices will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 4 to 9 p.m. on the last day for registration. But electors may register any day at the office on W. 6th St., O'Hanlon emphasized.

Two registrars, one from each major political party, will be assigned to duty in the branch offices.

An advance supply of ballots is scheduled to be delivered to the board today from the Wellsville Publishing Co., contractors. They will be used to fill demands for absentee ballots for service personnel and their spouses — if qualified — and civilians residing temporarily outside the U.S. The so-called "soldier ballots" became available today under Ohio law.

April 8 will be the first day for issuance of regular civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots.

Auto Battery Stolen

LISBON — A battery and two cables valued at $35.67 were stolen from a new Ford Galaxie early Thursday at the parking lot of Bud Shaffer Ford, Inc., just north of Salem city limits. The owner reported the theft yesterday to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

City And Chester Autos In Crash

Cars operated by drivers from East Liverpool and Chester were involved in a crash Thursday afternoon at 2:35 at 5th and Washington Sts. in Newell, Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported today.

The mishap involved a 1959 model sedan driven by Robert Sheridan Cline, 73, of 559 Carolina Ave., Chester, and a 1959 two-door sedan of Geraldine Smith, 35, of 833 Riverview St., East Liverpool.

Deputies said Cline pulled from 5th St. onto Washington St. into the path of the city woman's south-bound car.

Cline told investigating officers that his view of Washington St. to the north was obstructed by a truck parked in front of a grocery store on the corner. Witnesses corroborated his claim, deputies said, and no charges were filed.

Patrol Reports Area Roads Slick

Area roads were reported wet and slippery in spots, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon, but no accidents had been reported up to 11:30 a. m.

Two mishaps occurred Thursday, officers said.

George Thompson, 42, of Columbiana was cited for driving while under the influence of alcohol after his car veered off County Rd. 416 south of Washingtonville and rammed a sign then overturned about 10:45 p. m. He was not hurt, officers said.

A semi-trailer truck driven by Leland R. Stanonik, 36, of New Waterford R. D. 2 went off Route 30 in the Cannons Mills area yesterday afternoon and apparently bumped a metal guardrail, although officers said the rail may have been damaged previously. Damage was minor.

2 District Motorists Draw Court Penalty

Two area motorists were among four penalized at traffic hearings held Thursday by County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine.

Charlotte Smith of Air Beacon Rd. forfeited a $15 appearance bond on a charge of speeding. Walter Galloway, 807 Dewey Ave., was fined $10 and costs for following too closely.

Kenneth McCullough, 219 W. Washington St., Lisbon, was fined $10 and costs for operating an unsafe vehicle, and George Ruscoe of East Palestine R. D. 1 $20 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Something Every Farmer Knows

It has crossed many minds in the last few days that Nikita Khrushchev and his Kremlins huddling in a special meeting in Moscow may really be talking about the subject they said brought them together—agriculture.

Russian socialists have had impressive success with industrial reform.

Their mechanistic philosophy has been well-adapted to techniques of mass production.

The Soviet Union's industrial strength has boosted it into contention against the United States for world power—an impressive performance for a country still in the pastoral age at the end of World War I.

But neither in socialistic Russia nor in any other country dominated by socialist philosophy has agriculture ever been successful.

THESE COUNTRIES are always short of food. Russia, with half its population on the land, cannot feed either its rural or urban populations satisfactorily. Hunger is the trademark of all nations that have experimented with Marxism.

Premier Khrushchev must have spent half his energy as a public figure on agriculture, yet it continues to be his most serious problem. Without an assured supply of food, all of Russian military preparations are meaningless. Russians could not feed themselves during World War II. They scarcely can feed themselves now in peacetime. The most vital detail of their national preparedness is missing. They don't have enough to eat.

What is wrong about socialism in agriculture?

What makes it fail in food production yet show good results in industrial production?

Every farmer knows the answer.

Food production depends on 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week vigilance and personal devotion to duty.

There are no starting and quitting whistles on barns. There is no way to gloss over, remelt, patch up, or wink at a failure in animal husbandry. No farmer ever gets another chance at a crop that failed.

Every piece of slipshod work, every instance of neglect, every fumble-handed operation in agriculture is a net subtraction from the supply of foodstuffs.

THE KIND OF singleminded devotion needed in farming simply is never forthcoming from public employes. Good farmers in Russia and everywhere else get to be that way because they have pride in their performance.

They do not put in long hours and give their work their full devotion because they love some bureaucrat and want to make him successful. They do these things to meet their own standard of excellence.

They're interested in making a living too, but even on the "factory farms" now common in the United States the primary motive is to do the job right. If it's done right, money returns will be forthcoming in due time and in fair abundance.

Communization of agriculture in Red China has been a total failure; the Chinese are starving. Russians are hungry. Communist satellites are bled white to provide food and are fixed in the role of the "cows" in ant colonies that exist to furnish food for "workers."

Food production is the great flaw in socialism. No one ever worked beyond the call of duty to make a politician look good—and in agriculture in socialized countries the consequences have been disastrous and always will be.

Introducing The Grandchildren

Our joy and pleasure in our First Lady's first solo flight into higher diplomacy would be greater if she had gone to India before instead of after Krishna Menon's triumph in the election. But that's the way the ballots fell, and India's appreciation of our Mrs. Kennedy, like our own, probably is beyond politics anyway.

The message she will be conveying is palpable and pleasing. It says to the people of India and, indirectly, to the people of Southeast Asia, that the United States has a young chief executive and a still younger wife.

It is the message that Attorney General Kennedy and his ebullient wife delivered in person on their recent global good will tour. It is what President Kennedy's youngest brother is carrying to Poland, Israel and Greece. The American youth movement is in full swing.

Before this generation of Kennedys there were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, who wintered on the Riviera and had friends and acquaintances all over the world. Nor is it to be overlooked that Mrs. Kennedy's traveling companion on the trip to India is her sister, Princess Radziwill, hostess to the President and Mrs. Kennedy last year in London and equally attractive.

This is the way it is with the Kennedys and their in-laws—and eventually we'll get so used to it there will be no special interest in the peregrinations of the go-go element now dominant in the national government.

It will be taken for granted that some of them always will be on the go. President Kennedy hadn't been in office four months before he paid a state visit to Canada for a starter and subsequently he and Mrs. Kennedy visited London, Paris, Vienna, Venezuela and Colombia.

As stay-at-homes we can say frankly they do credit to the United States as roving ambassadors—all the Kennedys and their spouses. And they do dispel any notion lingering abroad that the United States is typified by elderly man, like the Democratic chairmen of the standing committees of Congress. The Kennedys—and their spouses—are young enough to be the grandchildren of the old-timers.

Red Cross Calls

The various services performed by the organization have become almost a household byword. In time of disaster or other emergencies few have found the Red Cross wanting.

The services are so vital that any curtailment could mean hardship in some instances. But curtailment there will be if the various quotas are not reached.

The over-all goal in the East Liverpool area is $16,431. Do your part so that the campaign may go over the top.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Buses are top feature of transportation all over country. Their operation doesn't make everybody happy, but in New York a strike came about largely through fellow who blew into city, snapped up bus lines and set national record for making everybody sore.

His entry into picture was not marked by "Welcome aboard" to riders. His word to City Hall was "stand out of the doorway" and his message to workers seemed to be "Who needs you?"

A bus is a mechanical elephant with transfer troubles and smell of something burning underneath. It lacks ability to learn much and can never be really domesticated.

An elephant never forgets, and a bus often acts as if it had nothing it wanted to remember.

Some metropolitan streets, free of buses, look unclogged and comparatively like speedways. You can stand on a corner and not hear a fender, pedestrian or stream of profanity drop.

"Where do I get a bus?" "Anything in sight yet?" and "How long does it take to get to City Center?" have become New York foolish questions. But to millions dependent on such transportation situation is no joke.

Roy Cohn, who won fame as McCarthy Committee counsel, is lawyer for new bus line owner and in advice to his employer appears to have switched from "Answer yes or no" to "Answer no, positively."

Mayor Wagner, who has more troubles than any burgomaster in country, declared war on new owner of bus lines and looks to legislation to prove that, while a Texan has a right to do business in Gotham, he is not entitled to play cowboy with the public, City Hall or bus drivers.

"Have bus line, won't travel" is never a popular slogan. Bus drivers' lot is not a happy one. Each driver has to do a job that for generations of surface transportation was done by two men. They can be gruff and tough. But, considering strains and stresses, it's a wonder driver can finish single trip with smile left in system.

It is one of the few strikes in transportation history where the owner and advisers made the strikers' case look good. (Taxi! Taxi!)

PRESIDENT WANTS new law against untested drugs to apply to cosmetics. Under present law they can be put on market untested. Americans really lose face here, he feels.

One of most dramatic stories of year is that of Rev. Father Patrick J. Nortan, of Iowa, dead at 69. He was wholesale news dealer most of life, but gave it up and entered priesthood a few years ago, serving in same parish as his son.

Bleachers will be erected for crowds at coming Augusta golf tournaments. Can you remember away back when golfers demanded freedom from any disturbing factors? Even spectators were expected to stay at a reasonable distance and stay hush-hush. But today great throngs surround every tee and green and chase golfers across country while autos, electric-carts and TV announcers operate close up.

To win today a golfer must be able to play game in traffic jam, railroad roundhouse or a street riot.

American Indians did not develop the wheel for use in transportation, although they had discovered its principle, because they lacked most of the beasts of burden found in other parts of the world.

"Customs" are taxes levied by any government on imports or exports and are so called because in England these duties came to be considered the Crown's "by custom."

Atlanta, Georgia, was originally called Terminus, because the settlement was made around the terminum of a state-owned railroad. In 1843, its name was changed to Marthasville, and in 1845 to Atlanta.

The duration of life of the average housefly varies from 10 to 15 days. Experiments have been made, however, that reveal the fact that the longest life of a fly is about 62 days.

Only about 3 per cent of the world production of salt is used for human consumption. The great bulk of all salt produced goes for more than 1,400 industrial uses.

Must Be Hard To Swallow

Japan Turns To Red Trade

By Victor Riesel

There are many who are sensitive over Hiroshima. Some bear scares. Some feel intellectually wounded. Perhaps I am less sensitive to it. Perhaps because I flew there from Pearl Harbor via Tokyo. Perhaps my sensitivities are dulled by the booming Hiroshima shipyards of the Mitsubishi Shipbuilding Co. For a few weeks ago the famed Mitsubishi completed a 35,000-ton tanker for the Soviets, graciously named it the Lugansk and sent it down the ways to carry oil in the Russians lethal competition with us.

Victor Riesel

This is no reflection on the gentlemen of Japan. The legacy of Hiroshima has not dulled their efficiency in making a profit be it in dollars or rubles. Be it from friends or from foes of the United States.

That stabilizes the yen and I would not want it to waver.

MY SENSITIVITIES run more to the security of our own people. In Syracuse the other day, for example, I learned there was a fine pottery industry. If the Japanese dump much more of their own china on us, they could wipe out this business and scores of jobs with it.

I travel this land and hear the same from the makers of baseball gloves and hypodermic needles, glassware and fishing tackle and disturbed producers of transistors and TV sets. Jobs disappear in the United States. Whole industries, too. But we play it fair with the Japanese.

Now it would be real reciprocal of them to return the favor. I write this now because there has just been entertained in the Blair House a Japanese labor leader—Minoru Takita. He is president of the Japan Trade Union Congress. He might want to return home with a message. He is anti-Communist. He will understand.

There are many of us who resent the recent Japanese - Soviet trade pacts. These have not yet been reported in the U.S. There will be many more of us when the details are known.

There is no doubt that the Soviet war-making complex is being woven into the comparatively inaccessible Siberia. There is also no doubt that the Japanese are now helping the Russians make that complex a formidable modern fortress.

There is no doubt, because on the afternoon of Feb. 23, the Russians and the Japanese signed a trade pact in the Tokyo Foreign Office. They agreed that this would be the forerunner of long-term aid to the vast Soviet Siberian Development Project.

ALREADY the material for Soviet "hardware" is moving steadily toward the U.S.S.R. from Japan. There is heavy tonnage in electronic engineering machinery, sawmill facilities, ball bearings, rolled steel goods, carbon steel tubes, rolled stainless steel tubes, steel rope, conveyor belts and steel plate (30,000 tons). And ships and tankers, of course.

And word comes that the Japanese will not discriminate against either end of the Sino-Soviet bloc. That is, of course, if the Peiping Communist Chinese can pay. Word here is that the gentlemen of Japan now are ready to do business with Mao's official merchants.

This word was brought back to Peiping by a delegation of the Socialist party of Japan. The Socialist leader, Mosaburo Suzuki, headed the third Socialist party mission to Peiping last month.

He returned saying that his "mission has succeeded in paving the way for economic interchanges between the two countries." These middlemen were necessary because there are no diplomatic relations between Tokyo and Peiping.

THE SHIPMENT of vital metals and factory equipment to the Soviet bloc will undoubtedly aid the Japanese government's money problems. But the shipments will aid our enemy more. Why this doesn't excite what we refer to in stirring talks as the free world is puzzling. Perhaps the image of the enemy is not sufficiently sharp these days.

Perhaps the memory of the old scrap metal we shipped to Japan only to have it hurled back at us as munitions is not sufficiently sharp. Otherwise we might be more concerned over Japanese metals being hurled at us by the Sino-Soviet bloc somewhere in Laos or South Viet Nam.

It is, of course, not a simple problem. If the Japanese need economic help, it would be much cheaper in money and men and blood to provide that help. If the Soviets are not our enemy, we're blowing some 52 million defense dollars for nothing.

If we're not blowing those billions on an arms boondoggle, and the Soviets are the threat, then the Japaenese are dealing with the enemy.

Odd Facts

Probably the most "glamorized" strong man America has ever produced was Sandow, who flourished in the early years of this century. His outstanding feats of strength included lifting a big horse. And he could pick up a pony and hold it out at arm's length. Paradoxically, Sandow the strong man died from the effects of lifting his automobile out of a ditch.

Steam gets its power from its tendency to expand. The volume of steam is 1,600 times the volume of the liquid water. The molecules of water travel faster when heated until at 212 degrees Fahrenheit, they fly apart. Steam receives its power from the force of these flying molecules.

The cost of penicillin in its simplest form was originally $20 for 1,000 units. But mass production has pulled the price down to just a few cents for 1,000 units. The cost of one vitamin has been reduced from $300 per gram to only about 20 cents.

The first success at organization of labor on a large scale in the U.S. came with the formation of the Mechanics Union of Trade Association, in Philadelphia, in 1827. This organization brought together workers of many crafts.

British Criticism

By David Lawrence

Gaitskell Visit Brings Attack On Kennedy

There's more than meets the eye in the criticism leveled in the British House of Commons at President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for allegedly "interfering in Britain's internal affairs."

David Lawrence

It seems that both the President and the secretary of defense received Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition party in the British parliament, and gave him the background of current policies on nuclear tests and disarmament.

Mr. Gaitskell later made a statement supporting the President's position, and this caused much criticism of the British leader himself by members of the House of Commons. It came from members of the Conservative party, and there were complaints, too, from Mr. Gaitskell's own party.

The British critics, however, are on the wrong track. If a distinguished visitor like Hugh Gaitskell comes to the United States to learn at first hand what's going on in international affairs, should the president turn a deaf ear and refuse to receive him?

For many decades it has been the custom, if not the rule, in international relations that the head of a government doesn't have any conferences of a formal nature with representatives of an opposition party in the government of a friendly country.

In recent years, however, this has often been ignored. Also, envoys from foreign governments, including British ambassadors, have not hesitated to confer frequently with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — even though a Democrat — during the years when the White House happened to be occupied by a Republican president.

Theoretically, the Congress, being a coordinate branch of the government, might be expected to have direct contact with foreign governments, but under the Constitution the conduct of foreign relations is defined as strictly an executive function. Little by little, however, the foreign diplomats in Washington, including British ambassadors, have departed from the old rule.

THE BLAME, therefore, is not to be placed on the President nor the secretary of defense, but on Mr. Gaitskell himself, for he alone made the decision as to whether he would enter into a discussion with American officials on current policies.

It may have been indiscreet for him to do so from a British viewpoint but the President is hardly to be blamed for trying to win support in Great Britain when anyone asks for his views.

It will be recalled that Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Adlai Stevenson, both prominent in the Democratic party, had lengthy interviews with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow while President Eisenhower was in the White House. Also, British opposition party leaders have conferred with the Soviet premier in Moscow from time to time.

It is being hinted in London that Prime Minister Macmillan and Defense Minister Watkinson have been displeased by President Kennedy's action in briefing Mr. Gaitskell.

This, of course, introduces a very different factor — for it is certainly desirable that an American president should not offend the head of any foreign ministry by secret conferences with his political opponents.

It may be that another rule, long since abandoned, may have to be restored. It provides that arrangements for all meetings between distinguished foreigners and American officials should be handled by the foreign embassies in Washington.

If Mr. Gaitskell, for instance, had made his appointment through the British Embassy, it is conceivable that there might have been less objection to it in London.

EVEN SO, the President cannot be expected to sit by and watch the Socialist - Labor opposition in Britain fire away at his international policies without using every means at his command to convince his critics of the correctness of his own policies in world affairs.

Mr. Gaitskell, to be sure, on his return from Washington did brief the other members of the Parliamentary defense committee in Britain on what he learned from President Kennedy and Secretary McNamara. Nothing was withheld from the British government itself.

What really troubles the British government, however, is that the President is represented as being somewhat critical of the Macmillan government in connection with a lack of defense measures being taken on the continent of Europe.

It all boils down to one important point — differences between governments should be ironed out by their respective foreign offices, and only when this form of communication breaks down should controversies be brought into the open.

The risk that the President runs in alienating the Macmillan government is more important for him to take into account than winning friends in an opposition party in Britain.

Letters To The Editor

In spite of the fact that most of the letters in this column have been crying out against the unfairness of the city income tax, there are definitely citizens in this town who are firm in their belief that it is otherwise.

I always was, I am and I always will be in favor of any measure that will help our city grow and prosper. I want to live in a community I can be proud of.

I am getting a little sick of reading and hearing such phrases as "crammed down our throats" and "we need more men like Mr. Duffy". If there is one thing we don't need, it is more men like Mr. Duffy.

Instead of being ridiculed and harassed, our five councilmen who voted yes, and did their duty as they saw it, should be commended for their farsightedness.

I am also being tried sorely with being told "the people" don't want the tax. Do these people remember the tax was defeated by only a very small margin? As a human being and a citizen, I feel I also qualify as a "people".

We need to give the tax and the councilmen a chance to show what can be done. It is a certainty that much is needed. This town is sick!

MRS. RUTH E. CURRY
1428 Dorothy St.

I have been reading a lot of these letters lately. What is wrong with the people of our city?

They talk about their own Council doing this and that without notifying the people. If they voted for another Council they would do the same thing as the others have done.

The people should consider that it takes money to run a city. Without it you won't have anything. We need this money. I should know. I have been around different places that need going over. Take the City Hall. It needs a new roof, a new furnace and a plaster job on the ceiling all around the building.

And there is the Fire Department building. The Welfare Department is getting worse year after year. It needs replastered and new paint on the walls and new windows. If the people want to have a nice City Hall and fire hall then they had better do something.

This is not all that we need here. It is a crime to let everything go like it is. One of these days there might not be a city, only a ghost town. I just spent two weeks in Lincoln, Ill.

They have nice roads and a City Hall that is twice as good looking inside as ours. They have parking meters the same as our city does and the fire hall and relief office are fine, too. I would rather live in a town like that than where you pick up a paper and hear people complaining about this and that all the time. If some of the people don't like this tax why don't they shut their mouths and let things go on as they are.

There is more I could say about this city and what it needs. And if some of these people don't believe these things, let them get out and look around some time. I would even be glad to show them myself.

You see I am around a lot because I am a relief worker. I work in the City Hall where I try to keep things in shape and clean so the judge can have his court trials every day. Read this and take heed. Some day I would like to see a good clean city in East Liverpool.

Something Every Farmer Knows

It has crossed many minds in the last few days that Nikita Khrushchev and his Kremlins huddling in a special meeting in Moscow may really be talking about the subject they said brought them together—agriculture.

Russian socialists have had impressive success with industrial reform.

Their mechanistic philosophy has been well-adapted to techniques of mass production.

The Soviet Union's industrial strength has boosted it into contention against the United States for world power—an impressive performance for a country still in the pastoral age at the end of World War I.

But neither in socialistic Russia nor in any other country dominated by socialist philosophy has agriculture ever been successful.

THESE COUNTRIES are always short of food. Russia, with half its population on the land, cannot feed either its rural or urban populations satisfactorily. Hunger is the trademark of all nations that have experimented with Marxism.

Premier Khrushchev must have spent half his energy as a public figure on agriculture, yet it continues to be his most serious problem. Without an assured supply of food, all of Russian military preparations are meaningless. Russians could not feed themselves during World War II. They scarcely can feed themselves now in peacetime. The most vital detail of their national preparedness is missing. They don't have enough to eat.

What is wrong about socialism in agriculture?

What makes it fail in food production yet show good results in industrial production?

Every farmer knows the answer.

Food production depends on 24-hour-a-day, seven-days-a-week vigilance and personal devotion to duty.

There are no starting and quitting whistles on barns. There is no way to gloss over, remelt, patch up, or wink at a failure in animal husbandry. No farmer ever gets another chance at a crop that failed.

Every piece of slipshod work, every instance of neglect, every fumble-handed operation in agriculture is a net subtraction from the supply of foodstuffs.

THE KIND OF singleminded devotion needed in farming simply is never forthcoming from public employes. Good farmers in Russia and everywhere else get to be that way because they have pride in their performance.

They do not put in long hours and give their work their full devotion because they love some bureaucrat and want to make him successful. They do these things to meet their own standard of excellence.

They're interested in making a living too, but even on the "factory farms" now common in the United States the primary motive is to do the job right. If it's done right, money returns will be forthcoming in due time and in fair abundance.

Communization of agriculture in Red China has been a total failure; the Chinese are starving. Russians are hungry. Communist satellites are bled white to provide food and are fixed in the role of the "cows" in ant colonies that exist to furnish food for "workers."

Food production is the great flaw in socialism. No one ever worked beyond the call of duty to make a politician look good—and in agriculture in socialized countries the consequences have been disastrous and always will be.

Introducing The Grandchildren

Our joy and pleasure in our First Lady's first solo flight into higher diplomacy would be greater if she had gone to India before instead of after Krishna Menon's triumph in the election. But that's the way the ballots fell, and India's appreciation of our Mrs. Kennedy, like our own, probably is beyond politics anyway.

The message she will be conveying is palpable and pleasing. It says to the people of India and, indirectly, to the people of Southeast Asia, that the United States has a young chief executive and a still younger wife.

It is the message that Attorney General Kennedy and his ebullient wife delivered in person on their recent global good will tour. It is what President Kennedy's youngest brother is carrying to Poland, Israel and Greece. The American youth movement is in full swing.

Before this generation of Kennedys there were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, who wintered on the Riviera and had friends and acquaintances all over the world. Nor is it to be overlooked that Mrs. Kennedy's traveling companion on the trip to India is her sister, Princess Radziwill, hostess to the President and Mrs. Kennedy last year in London and equally attractive.

This is the way it is with the Kennedys and their in-laws—and eventually we'll get so used to it there will be no special interest in the peregrinations of the go-go element now dominant in the national government.

It will be taken for granted that some of them always will be on the go. President Kennedy hadn't been in office four months before he paid a state visit to Canada for a starter and subsequently he and Mrs. Kennedy visited London, Paris, Vienna, Venezuela and Colombia.

As stay-at-homes we can say frankly they do credit to the United States as roving ambassadors—all the Kennedys and their spouses. And they do dispel any notion lingering abroad that the United States is typified by elderly man, like the Democratic chairmen of the standing committees of Congress. The Kennedys—and their spouses—are young enough to be the grandchildren of the old-timers.

Red Cross Calls

The Red Cross fund drive is in full swing here and in district communities.

The various services performed by the organization have become almost a household byword. In time of disaster or other emergencies few have found the Red Cross wanting.

The services are so vital that any curtailment could mean hardship in some instances. But curtailment there will be if the various quotas are not reached.

The over-all goal in the East Liverpool area is $16,431. Do your part so that the campaign may go over the top.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Buses are top feature of transportation all over country. Their operation doesn't make everybody happy, but in New York a strike came about largely through fellow who blew into city, snapped up bus lines and set national record for making everybody sore.

His entry into picture was not marked by "Welcome aboard" to riders. His word to City Hall was "stand out of the doorway" and his message to workers seemed to be "Who needs you?"

A bus is a mechanical elephant with transfer troubles and smell of something burning underneath. It lacks ability to learn much and can never be really domesticated.

An elephant never forgets, and a bus often acts as if it had nothing it wanted to remember.

Some metropolitan streets, free of buses, look unclogged and comparatively like speedways. You can stand on a corner and not hear a fender, pedestrian or stream of profanity drop.

"Where do I get a bus?" "Anything in sight yet?" and "How long does it take to get to City Center?" have become New York foolish questions. But to millions dependent on such transportation situation is no joke.

Roy Cohn, who won fame as McCarthy Committee counsel, is lawyer for new bus line owner and in advice to his employer appears to have switched from "Answer yes or no" to "Answer no, positively."

Mayor Wagner, who has more troubles than any burgomaster in country, declared war on new owner of bus lines and looks to legislation to prove that, while a Texan has a right to do business in Gotham, he is not entitled to play cowboy with the public, City Hall or bus drivers.

"Have bus line, won't travel" is never a popular slogan. Bus drivers' lot is not a happy one. Each driver has to do a job that for generations of surface transportation was done by two men. They can be gruff and tough. But, considering strains and stresses, it's a wonder driver can finish single trip with smile left in system.

It is one of the few strikes in transportation history where the owner and advisers made the strikers' case look good. (Taxi! Taxi!)

PRESIDENT WANTS new law against untested drugs to apply to cosmetics. Under present law they can be put on market untested. Americans really lose face here, he feels.

One of most dramatic stories of year is that of Rev. Father Patrick J. Nortan, of Iowa, dead at 69. He was wholesale news dealer most of life, but gave it up and entered priesthood a few years ago, serving in same parish as his son.

Bleachers will be erected for crowds at coming Augusta golf tournaments. Can you remember away back when golfers demanded freedom from any disturbing factors? Even spectators were expected to stay at a reasonable distance and stay hush-hush. But today great throngs surround every tee and green and chase golfers across country while autos, electric-carts and TV announcers operate close up.

To win today a golfer must be able to play game in traffic jam, railroad roundhouse or a street riot.

American Indians did not develop the wheel for use in transportation, although they had discovered its principle, because they lacked most of the beasts of burden found in other parts of the world.

"Customs" are taxes levied by any government on imports or exports and are so called because in England these duties came to be considered the Crown's "by custom."

Atlanta, Georgia, was originally called Terminus, because the settlement was made around the terminum of a state-owned railroad. In 1843, its name was changed to Marthasville, and in 1845 to Atlanta.

The duration of life of the average housefly varies from 10 to 15 days. Experiments have been made, however, that reveal the fact that the longest life of a fly is about 62 days.

Only about 5 per cent of the world production of salt is used for human consumption. The great bulk of all salt produced goes for more than 1,400 industrial uses.

Must Be Hard To Swallow

By Victor Riesel

There are many who are sensitive over Hiroshima. Some bear scares. Some feel intellectually wounded. Perhaps I am less sensitive to it. Perhaps because I flew there from Pearl Harbor via Tokyo. Perhaps my sensitivities are dulled by the booming Hiroshima shipyards of the Mitsubishi Shipbuilding Co. For a few weeks ago the famed Mitsubishi completed a 35,000-ton tanker for the Soviets, graciously named it the Lugansk and sent it down the ways to carry oil in the Russians lethal competition with us.

Victor Riesel

This is no reflection on the gentlemen of Japan. The legacy of Hiroshima has not dulled their efficiency in making a profit be it in dollars or rubles. Be it from friends or from foes of the United States.

That stabilizes the yen and I would not want it to waver.

MY SENSITIVITIES run more to the security of our own people. In Syracuse the other day, for example, I learned there was a fine pottery industry. If the Japanese dump much more of their own china on us, they could wipe out this business and scores of jobs with it.

I travel this land and hear the same from the makers of baseball gloves and hypodermic needles, glassware and fishing tackle and disturbed producers of transistors and TV sets. Jobs disappear in the United States. Whole industries, too. But we play it fair with the Japanese.

Now it would be real reciprocal of them to return the favor. I write this now because there has just been entertained in the Blair House a Japanese labor leader—Minoru Takita. He is president of the Japan Trade Union Congress. He might want to return home with a message. He is anti-Communist. He will understand.

There are many of us who resent the recent Japanese - Soviet trade pacts. These have not yet been reported in the U.S. There will be many more of us when the details are known.

There is no doubt that the Soviet war-making complex is being woven into the comparatively inaccessible Siberia. There is also no doubt that the Japanese are now helping the Russians make that complex a formidable modern fortress.

There is no doubt, because on the afternoon of Feb. 23, the Russians and the Japanese signed a trade pact in the Tokyo Foreign Office. They agreed that this would be the forerunner of long-term aid to the vast Soviet Siberian Development Project.

ALREADY the material for Soviet "hardware" is moving steadily toward the U.S.S.R. from Japan. There is heavy tonnage in electronic engineering machinery, sawmill facilities, ball bearings, rolled steel goods, carbon steel tubes, rolled stainless steel tubes, steel rope, conveyor belts and steel plate (30,000 tons). And ships and tankers, of course.

And word comes that the Japanese will not discriminate against either end of the Sino-Soviet bloc. That is, of course, if the Peiping Communist Chinese can pay. Word here is that the gentlemen of Japan now are ready to do business with Mao's official merchants.

This word was brought back to Peiping by a delegation of the Socialist party of Japan. The Socialist leader, Mosaburo Suzuki, headed the third Socialist party mission to Peiping last month.

He returned saying that his "mission has succeeded in paving the way for economic interchanges between the two countries." These middlemen were necessary because there are no diplomatic relations between Tokyo and Peiping.

THE SHIPMENT of vital metals and factory equipment to the Soviet bloc will undoubtedly aid the Japanese government's money problems. But the shipments will aid our enemy more. Why this doesn't excite what we refer to in stirring talks as the free world is puzzling. Perhaps the image of the enemy is not sufficiently sharp these days.

Perhaps the memory of the old scrap metal we shipped to Japan only to have it hurled back at us as munitions is not sufficiently sharp. Otherwise we might be more concerned over Japanese metals being hurled at us by the Sino-Soviet bloc somewhere in Laos or South Viet Nam.

It is, of course, not a simple problem. If the Japanese need economic help, it would be much cheaper in money and men and blood to provide that help. If the Soviets are not our enemy, we're blowing some 52 million defense dollars for nothing.

If we're not blowing those billions on an arms boondoggle, and the Soviets are the threat, then the Japaenese are dealing with the enemy.

Odd Facts

Probably the most "glamorized" strong man America has ever produced was Sandow, who flourished in the early years of this century. His outstanding feats of strength included lifting a big horse. And he could pick up a pony and hold it out at arm's length. Paradoxically, Sandow the strong man died from the effects of lifting his automobile out of a ditch.

Steam gets its power from its tendency to expand. The volume of steam is 1,600 times the volume of the liquid water. The molecules of water travel faster when heated until at 212 degrees Fahrenheit, they fly apart. Steam receives its power from the force of these flying molecules.

The cost of penicillin in its simplest form was originally $20 for 1,000 units. But mass production has pulled the price down to just a few cents for 1,000 units. The cost of one vitamin has been reduced from $300 per gram to only about 20 cents.

The first success at organization of labor on a large scale in the U.S. came with the formation of the Mechanics Union of Trade Association, in Philadelphia, in 1827. This organization brought together workers of many crafts.

British Criticism

By David Lawrence

Gaitskell Visit Brings Attack On Kennedy

There's more than meets the eye in the criticism leveled in the British House of Commons at President John F. Kennedy and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara for allegedly "interfering in Britain's internal affairs."

David Lawrence

It seems that both the President and the secretary of defense received Hugh Gaitskell, leader of the opposition party in the British parliament, and gave him the background of current policies on nuclear tests and disarmament.

Mr. Gaitskell later made a statement supporting the President's position, and this caused much criticism of the British leader himself by members of the House of Commons. It came from members of the Conservative party, and there were complaints, too, from Mr. Gaitskell's own party.

The British critics, however, are on the wrong track. If a distinguished visitor like Hugh Gaitskell comes to the United States to learn at first hand what's going on in international affairs, should the president turn a deaf ear and refuse to receive him?

For many decades it has been the custom, if not the rule, in international relations that the head of a government doesn't have any conferences of a formal nature with representatives of an opposition party in the government of a friendly country.

In recent years, however, this has often been ignored. Also, envoys from foreign governments, including British ambassadors, have not hesitated to confer frequently with the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — even though a Democrat — during the years when the White House happened to be occupied by a Republican president.

Theoretically, the Congress, being a coordinate branch of the government, might be expected to have direct contact with foreign governments, but under the Constitution the conduct of foreign relations is defined as strictly an executive function. Little by little, however, the foreign diplomats in Washington, including British ambassadors, have departed from the old rule.

THE BLAME, therefore, is not to be placed on the President nor the secretary of defense, but on Mr. Gaitskell himself, for he alone made the decision as to whether he would enter into a discussion with American officials on current policies.

It may have been indiscreet for him to do so from a British viewpoint but the President is hardly to be blamed for trying to win support in Great Britain when anyone asks for his views.

It will be recalled that Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Adlai Stevenson, both prominent in the Democratic party, had lengthy interviews with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow while President Eisenhower was in the White House. Also, British opposition party leaders have conferred with the Soviet premier in Moscow from time to time.

It is being hinted in London that Prime Minister Macmillan and Defense Minister Watkinson have been displeased by President Kennedy's action in briefing Mr. Gaitskell.

This, of course, introduces a very different factor — for it is certainly desirable that an American president should not offend the head of any foreign ministry by secret conferences with his political opponents.

It may be that another rule, long since abandoned, may have to be restored. It provides that arrangements for all meetings between distinguished foreigners and American officials should be handled by the foreign embassies in Washington.

If Mr. Gaitskell, for instance, had made his appointment through the British Embassy, it is conceivable that there might have been less objection to it in London.

EVEN SO, the President cannot be expected to sit by and watch the Socialist - Labor opposition in Britain fire away at his international policies without using every means at his command to convince his critics of the correctness of his own policies in world affairs.

Mr. Gaitskell, to be sure, on his return from Washington did brief the other members of the Parliamentary defense committee in Britain on what he learned from President Kennedy and Secretary McNamara. Nothing was withheld from the British government itself.

What really troubles the British government, however, is that the President is represented as being somewhat critical of the Macmillan government in connection with a lack of defense measures being taken on the continent of Europe.

It all boils down to one important point — differences between governments should be ironed out by their respective foreign offices, and only when this form of communication breaks down should controversies be brought into the open.

The risk that the President runs in alienating the Macmillan government is more important for him to take into account than winning friends in an opposition party in Britain.

Letters To The Editor

In spite of the fact that most of the letters in this column have been crying out against the unfairness of the city income tax, there are definitely citizens in this town who are firm in their belief that it is otherwise.

I always was, I am and I always will be in favor of any measure that will help our city grow and prosper. I want to live in a community I can be proud of.

I am getting a little sick of reading and hearing such phrases as "crammed down our throats" and "we need more men like Mr. Duffy". If there is one thing we don't need, it is more men like Mr. Duffy.

Instead of being ridiculed and harassed, our five councilmen who voted yes, and did their duty as they saw it, should be commended for their farsightedness.

I am also being tried sorely with being told "the people" don't want the tax. Do these people remember the tax was defeated by only a very small margin? As a human being and a citizen, I feel I also qualify as a "people".

We need to give the tax and the councilmen a chance to show what can be done. It is a certainty that much is needed. This town is sick!

MRS. RUTH E. CURRY
1428 Dorothy St.

I have been reading a lot of these letters lately. What is wrong with the people of our city?

They talk about their own Council doing this and that without notifying the people. If they voted for another Council they would do the same thing as the others have done.

The people should consider that it takes money to run a city. Without it you won't have anything. We need this money. I should know. I have been around different places that need going over. Take the City Hall. It needs a new roof, a new furnace and a plaster job on the ceiling all around the building.

And there is the Fire Department building. The Welfare Department is getting worse year after year. It needs replastered and new paint on the walls and new windows. If the people want to have a nice City Hall and fire hall then they had better do something.

This is not all that we need here. It is a crime to let everything go like it is. One of these days there might not be a city, only a ghost town. I just spent two weeks in Lincoln, Ill.

They have nice roads and a City Hall that is twice as good looking inside as ours. They have parking meters the same as our city does and the fire hall and relief office are fine, too. I would rather live in a town like that than where you pick up a paper and hear people complaining about this and that all the time. If some of the people don't like this tax why don't they shut their mouths and let things go on as they are.

There is more I could say about this city and what it needs. And if some of these people don't believe these things, let them get out and look around some time. I would even be glad to show them myself.

You see I am around a lot because I am a relief worker. I work in the City Hall where I try to keep things in shape and clean so the judge can have his court trials every day. Read this and take heed. Some day I would like to see a good clean city in East Liverpool.

Councilmen, Mayor Clash

night he suggested it be put to a vote of the people.

A letter differing with the mayor on his viewpoints was presented and read. Before the letter was made public, Councilman William Stroble commented he has been asked many times why he is against a combination building.

He said he believes other projects are more important and also feels the city should watch its finances.

He said the city could get along with the present City Hall for another 15 years, pointing out he previously fought to get a new jail.

The letter was signed by Councilmen Stroble, Frank DeLonzo, Allen Baldwin and Mrs. Kay Drago. The mayor countered later, declaring there were many assumptions.

It listed six points and opened by stating:

"In order to clarify some of the misunderstanding which the mayor of our town has caused to arise regarding a combination postal and city building, we, the undersigned councilmen of the city of Wellsville wish to give our reasons for rejecting a plan for a combination postal and city building.

"1.—We feel it is our primary duty to maintain a good and sound financial policy. . .

"2.—We feel it would be unrealistic and show lack of prudent financial judgment to burden our people with such a huge indebtedness. . .

"3.—This is a crucial time in our city, since we stand to lose many taxable properties when the new super-highway goes through our town . . .It would be a betrayal of public trust and confidence to further the tax burden of our citizens . . .It would involve approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

"4.—It would not show sound business judgment on our part to undertake such a project when we know we can get a new postal building merely by asking, financed solely by private capital . . . thereby bringing more tax dollars to our city treasury and school system.

"5.—There are projects which are of paramount importance, namely an auxiliary water line . . .The existing line follows the creek bed along Rt. 45, is over 40 years old and is under 12 feet of water. . . If a break occurs our city would find itself in a state of chaos. . .possible disastrous fires and crippling our city's industries by forcing shutdowns due to lack of water.

"6.—Being aware of this fact . . .We, the undersigned councilmen, are planning to take immediate steps to initiate plans for an auxiliary water line project."

In closing, they said, "We cannot understand why our mayor is not cognizant of this great need for an auxiliary water line and recommend such a project instead of pushing for a combination building."

The mayor commented the letter "has a great number of wonderful platitudes — and a great deal of assumption."

He added he never had said he was for or against an auxiliary water line. He said that he doesn't feel that in good conscience Council can deny the people of Wellsville the right to vote if they want a combination building.

The mayor then questioned each of the councilmen who signed the letter as to whether or not they had ever heard him speak against a water line. Each said "no."

Stroble said "you discussed with us a combination building but never a water line so I assumed you were not for it."

Councilman Donald Miller said the auxiliary line was important but Council should have had facts and figures on the combination building proposal. He also urged Council and the mayor get together on projects instead of "throwing things out to the newspapers."

Baldwin said this was the first time he had heard anything about the people being allowed to vote on such a proposal. The mayor said it would have to go to a vote because of the amount needed.

Stroble said he also "was tired of hearing that you had to be on one side or the other, depending on where you wanted the Post Office."

In his talk before the Kiwanis, Daugherty said $14,500 a year would be needed for 20 years to finance the obligation, but pointed out the government would pay $10,000 a year rental for the Post Office space.

He said the tentative plan called for the Post Office to be located on the first floor and the jail cell block and city offices on the second. He said postal authorities would take a 20-year lease on the building, with an option for 10 more.

Committee to give advance approval of procedure that would have barred amendments slowed down the bill's progress. Backers believed they could make a good case for a three-seat boost because the two new states, Hawaii and Alaska, are entitled to that many. But they wanted no runaway to take care of all the losers.

The rules committee gave its clearance early this week but did not bar amendments. Leaders counted noses Wednesday and figured they had close to 300 votes, so they called for a quick showdown.

The result, a bill which seemed certain of passage at 3 p.m. Thursday was dead two hours later, much to just about everyone's surprise.

night he suggested it be put to a vote of the people.

A letter differing with the mayor on his viewpoints was presented and read. Before the letter was made public, Councilman William Stroble commented he has been asked many times why he is against a combination building.

He said he believes other projects are more important and also feels the city should watch its finances.

He said the city could get along with the present City Hall for another 15 years, pointing out he previously fought to get a new jail.

The letter was signed by Councilmen Stroble, Frank DeLonzo, Allen Baldwin and Mrs. Kay Drago. The mayor countered later, declaring there were many assumptions.

It listed six points and opened by stating:

"In order to clarify some of the misunderstanding which the mayor of our town has caused to arise regarding a combination postal and city building, we, the undersigned councilmen of the city of Wellsville wish to give our reasons for rejecting a plan for a combination postal and city building.

"1.—We feel it is our primary duty to maintain a good and sound financial policy. . .

"2.—We feel it would be unrealistic and show lack of prudent financial judgment to burden our people with such a huge indebtedness. . .

"3.—This is a crucial time in our city, since we stand to lose many taxable properties when the new super-highway goes through our town . . .It would be a betrayal of public trust and confidence to further the tax burden of our citizens . . .It would involve approximately a quarter of a million dollars.

"4.—It would not show sound business judgment on our part to undertake such a project when we know we can get a new postal building merely by asking, financed solely by private capital . . . thereby bringing more tax dollars to our city treasury and school system.

"5.—There are projects which are of paramount importance, namely an auxiliary water line . . .The existing line follows the creek bed along Rt. 45, is over 40 years old and is under 12 feet of water. . . If a break occurs our city would find itself in a state of chaos. . .possible disastrous fires and crippling our city's industries by forcing shutdowns due to lack of water.

"6.—Being aware of this fact . . .We, the undersigned councilmen, are planning to take immediate steps to initiate plans for an auxiliary water line project."

In closing, they said, "We cannot understand why our mayor is not cognizant of this great need for an auxiliary water line and recommend such a project instead of pushing for a combination building."

The mayor commented the letter "has a great number of wonderful platitudes — and a great deal of assumption."

He added he never had said he was for or against an auxiliary water line. He said that he doesn't feel that in good conscience Council can deny the people of Wellsville the right to vote if they want a combination building.

The mayor then questioned each of the councilmen who signed the letter as to whether or not they had ever heard him speak against a water line. Each said "no."

Stroble said "you discussed with us a combination building but never a water line so I assumed you were not for it."

Councilman Donald Miller said the auxiliary line was important but Council should have had facts and figures on the combination building proposal. He also urged Council and the mayor get together on projects instead of "throwing things out to the newspapers."

Baldwin said this was the first time he had heard anything about the people being allowed to vote on such a proposal. The mayor said it would have to go to a vote because of the amount needed.

Stroble said he also "was tired of hearing that you had to be on one side or the other, depending on where you wanted the Post Office."

In his talk before the Kiwanis, Daugherty said $14,500 a year would be needed for 20 years to finance the obligation, but pointed out the government would pay $10,000 a year rental for the Post Office space.

He said the tentative plan called for the Post Office to be located on the first floor and the jail cell block and city offices on the second. He said postal authorities would take a 20-year lease on the building, with an option for 10 more.

Committee to give advance approval of procedure that would have barred amendments slowed down the bill's progress. Backers believed they could make a good case for a three-seat boost because the two new states, Hawaii and Alaska, are entitled to that many. But they wanted no runaway to take care of all the losers.

The rules committee gave its clearance early this week but did not bar amendments. Leaders counted noses Wednesday and figured they had close to 300 votes, so they called for a quick showdown.

The result, a bill which seemed certain of passage at 3 p.m. Thursday was dead two hours later, much to just about everyone's surprise.

Storm

designation of stricken sectors as disaster areas.

Additional federal aid was announced Thursday by the Department of Agriculture, which said emergency food supplies were being distributed to storm victims through state and local agencies.

Damage estimates by states: New Jersey and Delaware, $50 million each; Virginia, $30 million; New York, $25 million; North Carolina, $3 to $5 million; and Maryland "many millions."

Pestilence and starvation menaced survivors, with practically all food supplies and sewage facilities wiped out. Acceptable drinking water constituted a major problem in many areas.

In North Carolina, Gov. Terry Sanford flew over the distressed area.

"I thought it was going to be bad, but it is much worse than I imagined," he said.

H. Mat Adams, New Jersey conservation commissioner, said the damage in his state was worse than anything in a generation.

State emergencies have been declared by Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey and Gov. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware.

Carvel estimated that between 1,000 and 3,000 homes have been partially or totally destroyed and that another 7,000 suffered water damage. No damage figure has been set pending a survey.

In Maryland, Gov. J. Millard Tawes said after an inspection this is the worst disaster in the history of Maryland.

In the resort of Ocean City, Md., 90 per cent of the boardwalk is gone and a number of homes and hotels literally washed away.

Unseasonably high tides in Florida Thursday hit a 130-mile stretch from Fort Pierce to Bay Biscayne. Waves estimated at 25 feet greatly damaged resorts, homes and business districts. The Palm Beach and Miami Beach areas suffered some damage.

Hardest hit in New York were Long Island, Coney Island in Brooklyn, Staten Island and Fire Island.

Already at many of the disaster scenes were insurance adjusters for the National Board of Fire Underwriters. The board noted that damage caused by wind was covered by fire and extended coverage policies and homeowners' policies.

But damage caused by waves, high tidal water and flooding is not covered, the board said, adding that water damage to buildings is covered only when it results from the wind.

Coverage for water damage is provided in comprehensive auto insurance policies and in certain marine policies for bridges, piers and wharves, the board said.

A slow-moving storm rolling across the Midwest and heading eastward dumped up to a foot of snow in Iowa and Nebraska. Falls were heavy in many parts of the upper and middle Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region.

The snow was moderately heavy southward into Asheville, N.C., with snow also reported in Charlotte and Raleigh, N.C. There was snow and a mixture of snow and rain in the southern Appalachians while the precipitation was mostly rain from the western Ohio Valley southward through Tennessee into Mississippi and Alabama.

In the West, snow flurries fell in scattered sections of western Montana and northern Idaho and rain mixed with snow hit western Washington, western Oregon and extreme northwestern California. Rain fell in the central Rockies and showers sprinkled the extreme southern Plateau region. Heavy snow warnings were posted for Montana.

Temperatures were on the chilly side in most of the wet belts with readings near normal levels in other areas.

In addition, there will be 11 general symposiums, including one on ceramics used for missiles and spacecraft.

One district man will assume office. Frank Jansma of the B. F. Drakenfold & Co. at Washington, Pa., will be installed as vice president. He is a member of the society's Pittsburgh Section, which has many members from the East Liverpool district.

Dr. Koenig became a student member of the society in 1937. A graduate of Ohio State University, he received a bachelor of chemical engineering degree in 1931, a master of science degree in 1936 and a doctor of philosophy degree in 1938.

For 1931 to 1935, he was employed as a research chemist with the General Electric Co. at Pittsfield, Mass. In 1938, he joined the Hall China Co., where he was employed four years as a research engineer.

Dr. Koenig's wife is the former Miss Shirley Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Smith of St. Clair Ave.

A lieutenant in the Navy during World War II, he headed the components section of the Electronics Division of the Bureau of Ships. He assumed the position at Rutgers when he returned to civilian life in 1945.

Dr. Koenig served as vice president of the society in 1959-60. Active in the organization of the society's electronics division, he was named its first chairman in 1958-59.

In the society's whitewares division, he has served as vice chairman, chairman and secretary. He has served as president of the Ceramic Educational Council, an affiliate of the society.

He is a former director of the American Society for Testing Materials. He has served since 1945 as treasurer of the Ceramic Association of New Jersey.

Another highlight of the annual meeting will be presentation of the fourth annual award for professional achievement in ceramic engineering. The award is limited to ceramic engineers under 40 and is made on the basis of "outstanding contributions to the profession and the general welfare of the people." A three-member panel of judges will select the winner.

The program also will include a reception, a variety show and the annual banquet and dance. The banquet speaker will be Hubert N. Alyea, professor of Chemistry at Princeton University. His topic will be "Lucky Accidents, Great Discoveries and the Prepared Mind."

The annual meeting will close with a series of visits to ceramic plants and laboratories in the New York City area.

8 Motorists Forfeit On Speeding Citations

LISBON — Eight motorists forfeited $15 appearance bonds Thursday in County Judge James MacDonald's court where Russell M. Bainer, 55, of Akron was fined $2 and costs after pleading guilty.

He was one of 46 persons cited by the State Highway Patrol in a two-day speed check in the 45-mile zone on Route 45 north of Lisbon. Forfeiting were:

George P. Begalla, 39, and Gerald L. England, 21, both of Salem; Richard G. Wells, 21, of Steubenville, William S. Denoon, 25, of Bergholz, John J. Preston, 43, of Cleveland, and Florence Willer, 37, Clyde E. Johnson, 32, and Gilbert Hess, 46, all of Akron.

ducted at the high school, Public School and Calcutta School March 22.

Students at West Point, Elkton and Rogers will be transported to the Public School. Parental consent forms will be distributed shortly.

Students who do not get the dosage at the school clinic may obtain it at public clinics to be held March 21 and March 24 at Calcutta.

The board also approved preschool clinics for immunizations to be conducted March 19 at Rogers, March 20 at Elkton, March 21 at West Point and March 23 at Calcutta. Clinics will be held at 9 a.m.

Discussion was held on cafeteria matters, including the possibility of employing a general supervisor for all six school cafeterias — which feed 1,200 to 1,400 pupils a day. The board took the proposal under study.

Approval was granted to three Title 3 projects, including a series of maps for the elementary grades and science equipment for the elementary grades and high school. The projects, part of the federal defense aid program, will cost some $1,500.

Use of a classroom at the West Point School once a week was granted for a Bible Club. The board rejected a request for the purchase of a surplus jeep obtained by the schools a few years ago.

An agreement was approved with the Soil Conservation Service to conduct a study of land utilization of school properties.

The board took under study a request by the Midwest Oil & Gas Co. for oil and gas lease rights on the high school tract.

The board was reminded of the dates for commencement May 29 and baccalaureate May 27. The board continued the policy of providing each senior with seven tickets for the ceremonies.

VanHorne explained the two-suspension of classes this week due to snow will not extend the school term, because the closings were a result of "an act of God," and school work will be integrated to make up the lost time.

George Wilkinson, board member, reported he will be available shortly for Monday night meetings, so the board will resume its regular schedule of meeting the second and fourth Mondays of each month.

Senior Citizens To Hold Tag Day

Plans were outlined for a Tag Day April 14 at a meeting of the East Liverpool Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon in the VFW Hall. About 47 attended.

Members will be in charge of the downtown sale from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., also in the East End area, Mrs. Iva Fair, chairman, said.

Further plans were announced for the trip to Pittsburgh April 17 for the Ice Follies.

Mrs. Rozella Hickenbottom announced that a craft project will soon get under way.

Miss Lillian Potter led devotions and the flag salute and the group repeated the Lord's Prayer. Business was conducted by Marlow Russell, president. Mrs. Grace McHenry, secretary, and Mrs. Nell Pelley, treasurer, gave reports.

Lunch was served during a social hour.

Hancock Project Set

Committee To Distribute Garden Seeds For Needy

A citizens' committee is being organized to handle the distribution of emergency garden seeds to needy Hancock County families as part of a statewide program.

The seed program, operated in 35 West Virginia counties a year ago, will be extended to all 55 counties this year.

Agriculture Department and West Virginia University Extension Service representatives are in the field organizing local committees to process applications for the seeds.

The State Purchasing Division plans to give out 22,000 kits, each of which will contain 12 packs of vegetable seeds.

Charles Vaughn of the State Agriculture Department and W. H. Conkle of WVU visited the Hancock County Agricultural, office in New Cumberland Thursday to confer with Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, on preliminary plans.

The Rev. Allen S. Fields of New Cumberland, who has been named county chairman for the seed program, Mrs. Floyd Grimes and Mrs. Willis Ralston also attended.

Rev. Fields will supervise a committee of seven to nine citizens that will be named today to accept and process applications for the seeds, and distribute the packets to eligible families.

Because of legal requirements, the State Purchasing Division will be unable to open bids on 22,000 kits until March 16.

Johnson pointed out, however, that the delay will not hamper vegetable growing in Hancock County, as seeds are not normally planted until mid-April.

Meanwhile, Johnson said West Virginia University has provided enough atrazine and 2-4-D to set up a chemical weed killing demonstration for field corn.

However, he said he would prefer to make the demonstration at a farm co-operator on a public road where motorists passing by could see the comparative effectiveness.

Complete soil testing kits from WVU are available at the New Cumberland office. Samples should be brought to the office and they will be mailed to the soil testing laboratory for a free examination.

Garden calendars still are available along with many publications on vegetables, tree fruits, small fruits, pruning and farm crops.

A new publication by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on home propagation of ornamental trees and shrubs can be reserved by contacting his office, Johnson said. It tells how to multiply plants by layering, cuttings and grafts.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Plan Leisurely Dinner

In a family of several children, the family meal, especially the evening meal, can be made either an occasion for refinement and companionable enjoyments for one of confusion bordering on bedlam and boorishness. Unfortunately, one or more of the older children, even one or both parents, may sometimes need to hurry off for an engagement. But with wise planning and with setting the dinner hour sufficiently early, such interruptions can be greatly reduced, even avoided, as a rule. It's certainly no time for the radio or TV to be on.

IF ONE OF THE children is under three or four years of age, allowing him to leave the table when he has finished, but not to return, might be desirable, especially if the mealtime is leisurely prolonged. But children over five or six may easily learn to remain at the table for a reasonable period, even if they say they don't wish to wait for dessert.

To allow each child regularly to leave the family board whenever he chooses can cultivate in him a habit of jitteriness and rob the whole family of refining and companionable experiences.

Of course there is no end of opportunities for the parents to set the stage to stimulate companionable conversation at mealtime in which every child may participate enjoyably. Yet this can't be done when there is haste by every person to leave the table as soon as possible.

AND SO THE family mealtime, where there are several children of school age, can be made the daily high - time of exercise in self - control and consideration of one another and of gain in niceties of social grace.

Some weeks ago Mrs. Meyers and I enjoyed several meals with a family of eight children and the parents of three of them, the other five being orphaned nephews and nieces.

The age range of the children was from eight to 16.

There were occasions almost ideal for learning desirable civilities, social grace and family companionship and solidarity.

At two mealtimes, came telephone calls for several of the children. They were answered by the mother, stating he or she was at dinner and asking that the call be made again twenty minutes later.

At one meal the youngest child asked to be excused after finishing his dinner. At another meal the second - youngest made a like request. The answer by the mother in both cases was a quiet, decisive No and there was no complaining or a second request.

Before long each one who had been denied the privilege to leave early engaged in the family conversation and there was no apparent evidence of restlessness.

After a reasonable time, as the others of the family lingered at the table, the mother voluntarily said to each of these two children, "Now you may be excused if you wish."

I assumed that these children, when there were no guests, had sometimes been allowed to leave the table earlier.

It's not easy to draw the line on such matters, yet the possibilities for cultivating self-control and consideration for others of the family at mealtime were clearly demonstrated.

Of course there is no end of opportunities for the parents to set the stage to stimulate companionable conversation at mealtime in which every child may participate enjoyably. Yet this can't be done when there is haste by every person to leave the table as soon as possible.

AND SO THE family mealtime, where there are several children of school age, can be made the daily high - time of exercise in self - control and consideration of one another and of gain in niceties of social grace.

Some weeks ago Mrs. Meyers and I enjoyed several meals with a family of eight children and the parents of three of them, the other five being orphaned nephews and nieces.

The age range of the children was from eight to 16.

There were occasions almost ideal for learning desirable civilties, social grace and family companionship and solidarity.

At two mealtimes, came telephone calls for several of the children. They were answered by the mother, stating he or she was at dinner and asking that the call be made again twenty minutes later.

At one meal the youngest child asked to be excused after finishing his dinner. At another meal the second - youngest made a like request. The answer by the mother in both cases was a quiet, decisive No and there was no complaining or a second request.

Before long each one who had been denied the privilege to leave early engaged in the family conversation and there was no apparent evidence of restlessness.

After a reasonable time, as the others of the family lingered at the table, the mother voluntarily said to each of these two children, "Now you may be excused if you wish."

I assumed that these children, when there were no guests, had sometimes been allowed to leave the table earlier.

It's not easy to draw the line on such matters, yet the possibilities for cultivating self-control and consideration for others of the family at mealtime were clearly demonstrated.

Postmaster Samuel W. Brown said he had ordered 30,000 after selling out the original shipment of the Project Mercury stamp hailing the feat of orbiting a man around the world in one day. Because of the tremendous demand throughout the county, however, only 20,000 were received.

The commemorative stamp went on sale in major post offices within minutes after Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. emerged safely from his capsule on Feb. 20 following his three-orbital trip.

At Wellsville Meeting

Easement Action Starts In Council

Legislation granting the Board of Education a three-foot easement in Oak Alley, to build a safety barrier near the side doors of the Beacom Memorial gym, was given first reading by Wellsville City Council Thursday night.

Council also gave second reading to legislation authorizing sale of a strip of city-owned land and ordered a resolution establishing Daylight Saving Time.

THE BOARD will be granted an easement to build a three-foot wide walkway 11 feet long outside the doors of the gym. A railing will be erected to keep the students from stepping into the path of traffic.

The legislation had been ordered once but the board turned it down because of a misunderstanding in the specifications.

When the walkway is constructed, it will leave 17½ feet for traffic. Councilmen Robert Taggart and Dwight MacLean opposed the measure.

Taggart said he doesn't believe it will do any good and that it will create a hardship on residents of Appian Way who use the alley.

Clarence Cartwright, a former councilman, opposed the move from the audience while Earl Bake, board president, spoke in favor of the legislation.

Second reading was given the legislation authorizing the Board of Control to advertise for bids and sell a 3.66-acre plot along Route 7 above Wells Hollow Rd. Councilmen Donald Miller and MacLean opposed.

LATER, Mayor William Daugherty spoke from the audience and urged that Council not proceed with plans to sell the property. He said he would explain to them privately.

Legislation setting Daylight Saving Time April 29 to Oct. 28 was ordered after Council received a letter from the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, asking what action the city planned. The chamber plans to publish a listing of all the towns and the time they observe.

The mayor's report for February showed $1,014.70 collected in fines and fees.

Council directed Mrs. Margaret Baldwin, clerk, to send a letter of commendation to Roland Russell of the Old Salineville Rd. for his aid in the city's snow removal. Russell used his own farm tractor to clear snow along the curbs.

COUNCILMAN William Stroble, street and light chairman, said temporary improvements are needed on Buckeye Ave. He said a plan to have Clark Ave. blacktopped this summer has hit a bottleneck. He said the state was asked to participate but officials say they haven't any money.

He said state officials also are awaiting word from the city concerning the super-highway link. A discussion followed on steps to take to learn where the highway will go and when the state plans to move.

Previous Councils were unable to learn the exact route. Tentatively, it will follow Buckeye Ave.

The mayor urged Council to make some move to relocate residents whose homes will be razed and any industry that will have to move before proceeding with other phases. He said the two "go hand in hand."

DAUGHTERTY said "now is the time to advance the program if you can get it done without cost to the city." Councilman Frank DeLonzo suggested a delegation contact state officials.

Taggart commented that the city might drop to village status of 5,000 "if enough homes are lost."

Stroble suggested water service be extended to outlying areas to induce people to build.

The mayor asked for a meeting with the refuse committee to go over some plans. Stroble said the street and light committee will meet in the near future to consider the annual repair program.

Miller, finance chairman, reported the parking meter revenue for February increased $302 for total of $1,014.16. He said his committee will again work on the budget next week. A letter was ordered sent to the Yellow Creek Township trustees, asking for a meeting with Council to discuss finances.

DELONZO, property committee chairman, displayed detailed plans of a proposed building to house city equipment. It would be constructed at the old water works property. It is 40-x-80 feet. The proposal was referred to the committee and the Board of Control for study.

Council received a complaint of old cars parked on the sidewalk along Clark Ave. near 25th St. and of speeding on Clark Ave. and Commerce St.

A discussion was held on a neighborhood parking dispute in Michael Alley.

Miller reported the general fund is over $8,000 in the red while the water department is $112 behind. He reported someone is throwing garbage along Clark Ave. and said he will sign a complaint if he can find out who it is.

BALDWIN suggested Council consider purchasing portable scales to weigh trucks traveling through town. Daugherty said two truckers were cited for overweight loads Thursday morning, using State Highway Patrol scales.

DeLonzo said a prominent organization in town is considering purchasing or helping the city buy scales.

The audience was filled to overflowing by high school students from the American Problems class taught by Charles Wilfing.

CITY GIRL'S QUEEN. Miss Jane Woessner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John J. Laneve of Sunset Dr., was elected May Queen of 1962 at Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea Thursday. A junior, Miss Woessner was nominated by her sorority, Beta Sigma Omicron. The queen, who was elected by vote of the entire student body, will reign at May Day festivities May 11-13 on campus. She is a 1959 graduate of East Liverpool High School. There were seven candidates for the crown.

Army To Discontinue 2 Of Missile Sites

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Army has announced that two anti-aircraft missile sites in Warrensville Heights and Parma will cease being used for potential missile launchings.

Col. E. A. Wilson, commander of Nike missile installations in the area, said the 100 National Guardsmen will be assigned to one of three Nike-Hercules units in the Cleveland area currently being operated by regular Army personnel. He said he expected the transfer to take from six to eight months.

Missile Veers Off Course, Destroyed

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—The Army says a Nike-Zeus antimissile rocket was destroyed on purpose because it veered off course after launching.

The firing here Thursday was planned as a test of the rocket's key third stage—the one designed to seek out and destroy enemy missiles in space.

An Army spokesman declined to say whether the unsuccessful test would delay two forthcoming tests—the planned nuclear blasts in the Pacific next month and the Kwajalein Island Nike-Zeus tests planned for later in the spring.

Only Texas Had Big Losses

Severe Winter Benefited Many Western Farmers

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—This winter had the worst of everything, snow-laden storms, floods and numbing cold, but it also brought joy to many Western farmers. Only in Texas, apparently, did the winter assault cause extensive losses—$19 million in citrus crops alone.

In Southern California, torrential rains brought floods but also broke a chronic drought. "We're in beautiful shape for the first time in many years," said the Los Angeles County agriculture commissioner, Kenneth L. Woolf.

The grain states exulted about the heavy snow cover that kept soil from blowing and put moisture into the ground the best way—through a slow, deep-reaching trickle.

But the cold did lasting damage to fruit trees in Texas. An unofficial guess is that 15 per cent were killed when a late February freeze hit the budding trees.

The citrus crop of Texas, estimated at more than 10 million boxes, was nearly a total loss. In two days of sub-freezing temperatures the state's commercial peach and plum crop worth $5 million was practically wiped out.

Citrus crop losses in California and Arizona were less severe.

The Texas loss proved a boom to Florida. Growers in Florida lost 4½ to 8 million boxes of oranges and 1-2 million boxes of grapefruit in a December freeze. But the major loss was to very young trees which didn't affect this year's harvest. The crop forecast has been cut only from a record 99 million box orange crop to a healthy 96 million.

In Wyoming, heavy snowfall piled up a storehouse of dollars in the form of moisture in the mountain snow sheds. Agriculture officials fear the weather hurt livestock herds, but say field crop prospects are good.

"The situation appears surprisingly good," said the U.S. Crop and Livestock Reporting Service in Montana. "The flooding caused no extensive damage but it was generally confined to areas where no crops were out."

Reports from Oklahoma, New New Mexico and Colorado were similarly negative on damage. Colorado expects a wheat crop of about 54 million bushels this year, compared to 56 million in 1961.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Dept. of Agri. cash grain prices: No 2 red wheat unchanged to 1 higher 1.90-1.96, mostly 1.91-1.93; No 2 yellow ear corn unchanged to 2 higher 1.00-1.07 per bu, mostly 1.91-1.93; or 1.43-1.53 per 100 lbs, mostly 1.47-1.50; No 2 oats mostly unchanged 62 - 72, mostly 64-67; No 1 soybeans unchanged to 2 higher 2.27 - 2.38, mostly 2.32-2.36.

2 Ohio Bids Ask Radio, TV Stations

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission has re-received two applications from Ohio. They are:

CINCINNATI (AP) — Al Bilik, Cincinnati AFL-CIO Central Labor Council president, is sure of re-election next month. Bilik is unopposed, though four persons are contending for the No. 2 spot on the council — that of executive secretary-treasurer.

Program To Be Sunday

Girl Scouts Council Plans Anniversary Observances

The 50th anniversary of girl scouting in America will be observed at a program to be presented by the East Liverpool Area Girl Scout Council Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. at Westgate School.

"The Golden Promise" is the theme with a dramatization of the Girl Scout Promise and Laws highlighting the program. Approximately 50 girls from each neighborhood group will participate in this rededication.

Mrs. John Koos, chairman, and Mrs. H. F. Banfield, co-chairman, are being assisted by Mrs. Louis Tobin, Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. Charles French and Mrs. James Durham.

Narrators will be Linda Carpenter, Chester Neighborhood Association; Anita Auville, Newell; Kathy Myers, Jane Pethtel and Kathy Blackburn, Calcutta; Kay Eaton, North Side; Marjorie Hughey, East End, and Mary Lou Gerbert, Downtown. Miss Betsy Eunson, Christian education director of the First Church of Christ, will be song leader and pianist.

The Wellsville Neighborhood Association will conduct the presentation of colors. The audience will participate in the flag salute and "The Star Spangled Banner." The Rev. Thomas C. Clyde, pastor of the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church, will give the invocation and benediction.

Mrs. David Beatty, council president, will extend the welcome. The Brownies will repeat the Brownie Promise.

Songs will be "When Er'e You Make a Promise," Calcutta; "The Girl Scout Chant," East End; "Girl Scouts Together," Newell; "A Good Girl Scout," Downtown; "Hail to the Scouts," North Side, and "Now the Day Is Over," Chester. The audience will close with the singing of "Taps."

Juliette Low brought Girl Guiding to the United States from England in 1912 and the first troop was organized in Savannah, Ga. The first uniform consisted of a dark blue middy and shirt, light blue tie and no hat.

In 1913 the name was changed to Girl Scouts with the first national headquarters established in Washington. The uniform was changed to a khaki blouse and skirt, black kerchief and a felt campaign hat.

The trefoil design was patented as the membership badge in 1914. Incorporation as a national organization took place in 1915 and Miss Low was elected president.

In 1916 the national headquarters was moved to New York City. The first troop of Brownies, called "Junior Scouts," was organized in Massachusetts. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson became the first honorary president.

The first nationwide celebration of Girl Scout Week was held in November 1919.

Juliette Low died Jan. 17, 1927 at Savannah, the year girls were sent abroad, to the International Camp at Geneva, Switzerland, for the first time. In 1929, Mrs. James Storrow of Boston gave the organization a chalet in Switzerland.

In a revision in 1938, three age levels were established—Brownie program 7 through 9; intermediate, 10 through 13, and the senior program, 14 through 17.

The first senior roundup was held in 1956 in Michigan and a summer arts festival was held in 1958 with seven countries represented. International service projects for children in Puerto Rico followed in 1959.

The current year will see the buildup of service to children of the community, designed to meet the needs of tomorrow's citizens. The local office has a list of suggestions to assist the troops.

Fry Warns GOP About Trading Its Endorsement

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Sen. Charles Fry of Springfield, a candidate for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate, has warned his party not to trade its endorsement for big-money contributions from a rival candidate.

Fry told the GOP's Scanning Committee:

"If the endorsement is to be based on 'deals' between big cities or campaign contributions from wealthy candidates, it will be a sad day for the Republican Party in Cuyahoga County and the state of Ohio."

Similar charges were made a week ago by state Sen. Ross Pepple of Lima, who also is in the race. The other candidates are John Marshall Briley of Toledo and Summit County Prosecutor John S. Ballard.

The county GOP will publish its endorsements later this month. Fry asked the scanners to endorse for the senatorial nomination a man of "proven legislative and leadership ability."

Hookstown Club Sets Prom Party

The Upper-Four Club met Wednesday evening at the Legion Hall near Hookstown and made further plans for a post-prom party for South Side High juniors and seniors April 27.

Various entertainment and orchestras were discussed. The group decided on prizes to be awarded, including a dance prize.

Juniors will be allowed to sell tickets to graduates of South Side High who desire to attend.

Chairmen for several phases of the affair will be announced later. The club's next meeting is April 4 at the Legion hall, Mrs. Jack McCarrell, secretary, said.

2 Robbery Suspects Under $25,000 Bond

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Two Akron, Ohio, robbery suspects were being held under $25,000 bond after they, a third man and a woman were arrested by FBI agents at a railroad station here.

The bonds have been set for Lee Wylds, 25, and Roland Lee Martin, 27. They were being held for action by Ohio authorities on charges of robbing an Akron supermarket of about $3,000 Feb. 23.

Bonds of $10,000 were set for Lee Max Hyder, 27, of Augusta, brother of a third man wanted in the holdup, and Betty Knott, 24, also of Augusta. They were charged with violating the Federal Firearms Act.

All four were arrested Wednesday. Lee Max Hyder is still being sought.

Midland Church Men Conduct Spelling Bee

An old-fashioned spelling bee highlighted the meeting of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday evening in the social rooms.

Lunch was served 15 by Frank Gibson.

Births Top Deaths

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Births to rural families in Butler County outnumbered deaths by better than three to one in 1961, says Dr. Alexander Witkow, county health commissioner. Dr. Witkow reported county residents outside Hamilton and Middletown had 1,670 births and 557 deaths.

Private Ownership Urged

Kiwanis Guest Discusses Communications In Space

Development of space satellite communications systems by private industry was urged by Al Weber of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday.

Weber, plant manager for the telephone utility here, described tentative plans for space systems by which micro radio waves would be relayed by orbiting satellites for dependable overseas communications.

He spoke of the 1960 orbiting of Echo 1, a plastic satellite still encircling the earth and off which radio waves have been bounced for transmissions between America and Europe.

But he said an orbiting satellite which would receive signals, then transmit them would be much more effective than merely bouncing the waves which consequently lose much power.

He listed two proposals for the space program.

One involved orbiting three satellites about 23,000 miles out in space which would cover about 90 per cent of the planet's surface. However, he said because of some present limitations — such as the intervening radiation belt about which little is known and the lack of rocketry to get the satellites up that far — such a program is not yet feasible.

He also described a plan by which 24 or 30 satellites would be orbited from 5,000 to 7,000 miles out, with a series of tracking stations on the earth to follow them and obtain their signals.

Bell is currently constructing such a tracking station, Weber reported, and has approval to launch an experimental satellite in the near future.

He discussed governmental attitudes to plans for space communications, saying President John F. Kennedy has indicated that private common carriers are the best suited for the program.

"However, there are those in government who believe in government ownership and think this should be such a project," Weber said.

He pointed to the history of the private development of telephone systems, declaring that it has proven an effective and progressive means of providing the best and most widespread communications in the world.

"Profit has come to mean for many people a dirty word," he said. "But it has been profit which has permitted research and development in many fields which has led to the high standard of living in the United States, with a saving on tax moneys."

"It could be," he concluded, "that the taxpayer may be the last natural resource which will be depleted."

Ohio Education Unit Plans Poll On More Taxes

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ohio Education Association plans to poll candidates for the next General Assembly session on whether they would support additional taxes.

Thomas G. O'Keefe, OEA executive secretary, said that among the questions OEA will ask to determine how lawmakers stand on school financing is whether they would approve increasing the foundation aid program.

Without a formula change, O'Keefe said, the foundation would need an additional $40 million in the next biennium to meet increased enrollment alone.

He suggested a state income tax as a possible income source. Such a tax, he said, was why New York State could spend an average $550 yearly per pupil, compared with only $380 in Ohio.

Old Confidence Game Robs Nurse Of $5,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — An old confidence game robbed a practical nurse of $5,000 in savings Thursday. Mrs. Willie Ann Ladiner, 51, told police she gave the money as good faith in an agreement to share $24,000 which one of the two confidence women said she had found in a package.

Mrs. Ladiner said she withdrew her money from a bank and gave it to the fast-talking strangers. She waited for them to return with her share but they never did.

They Walked With Christ

THE THIRD WISE MAN

"And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way."

—Matthew II: 12

Opinions vary as to the national origins of the wise men. The fact that they came from east of Jerusalem seems to point to Persia. Supporting this view is also the fact that Persia was the country where the Magi conducted their schools or centers of occult learning.

But men from throughout the East went to Persia to study with those teachers and adepts to be found there.

Bede states that the third wise man, Balthasar, was dark-skinned and bearded. He was, according to this account, an African, probably from Arabia, since the gift he presented to Jesus was myrrh. This highly-fragrant substance, which was greatly valued as a perfume, came from a small tree or shrub native to Arabia.

(It is interesting to note that myrrh figures in both the birth and the death of the Savior. As the wise man's gift, it was an "oil of gladness," offered in homage to the new-born King. As He suffered upon the cross, He was offered the same substance, mingled with wine to alleviate his pain, but He rejected it.)

On their journey to Bethlehem, the Magi probably travelled a distance of slightly more than 1000 miles, a trip that required anywhere from three to nine months by camel.

They probably followed the great caravan route across the Syrian desert with its scorching winds, to the oasis of Tadmor (Palmyra), and on to Damascus, then southward until they forded the Jordan near Jericho.

After properly interpreting their dreams, however, they returned by some other and probably more circuitous route.

Scripture, unfortunately, does not tell us what became of these spiritually enlightened men of the East in the years that followed.

According to tradition, they were later baptized by the apostle Thomas. In the Cathedral at Cologne are relicts said to be the remains of the wise men, which St. Helena discovered in Persia and had brought to Constantinople. They were moved to Milan, Italy in the fifth century and from there transferred to Cologne in 1163.

The Constitution has 22 amendments.

Lions To Hold Broom Sale

Plans for the Chester Lions Club's annual broom sale April 2-3 were advanced at a meeting Thursday night at the clubhouse.

Jerry D'Angelo, general chairman, said work teams will be named at the next meeting March 22.

Seventeen attended and Walter Jordan, president, announced an officers' training conference will be held March 31-April 1 at Cedar Lake near Ripley.

Ohio's General Fund Faces 'Red' By $70 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's general fund, used for normal state operations, may run $70 million dollars in the red if the present rate of spending continues during the rest of the fiscal year ending June 30, state Auditor James A. Rhodes estimated today.

The auditor based his estimate on February figures showing the general fund went $23.5 million in the red at the end of that month.

February revenues totaled $60.8 million and expenditures $84.4 million to account for the red ink, Rhodes said.

For the first eight months of the state's bookkeeping year that began last July 1, Rhodes said general fund expenditures were $507.9 million, $46.6 million more than the $461.2 million in receipts.

Rhodes previously reported that over-all operating figures, including highway, liquor and wildlife funds, showed the state operated $54.1 million in the red for February.

INSTANT STEAM

...without even boiling the water

Ever since man harnessed fire, steam has been made by boiling water.

In two huge generating plants, we now have a new super energy-making process at work. By combining extreme heat and pressure, steam power comes instantly. Water is water one second, steam the next—the pressure is too high for boiling.

Result: the world's most efficient power production, by forcing each pound of coal to give up even more of its heat-producing energy to make steam.

Doing things in new ways to improve service and efficiency is one big reason why the average unit price of electricity, for customers of Ohio Power Company, has not gone up during twenty years of inflation.

Your service is better, your rates are lower because Ohio Power Company is a part of the American Electric Power System. Supplying more electricity than any other investor-owned utility, AEP aids the economic growth of 2,350 communities in seven states. Through integrated operations, progressive engineering, research and coordinated management, the six member companies of AEP bring you low-cost power with greatest dependability.

They Walked With Christ

THE THIRD WISE MAN

"And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way."

—Matthew II: 12

Opinions vary as to the national origins of the wise men. The fact that they came from east of Jerusalem seems to point to Persia. Supporting this view is also the fact that Persia was the country where the Magi conducted their schools or centers of occult learning.

But men from throughout the East went to Persia to study with those teachers and adepts to be found there.

Bede states that the third wise man, Balthasar, was dark-skinned and bearded. He was, according to this account, an African, probably from Arabia, since the gift he presented to Jesus was myrrh. This highly-fragrant substance, which was greatly valued as a perfume, came from a small tree or shrub native to Arabia.

(It is interesting to note that myrrh figures in both the birth and the death of the Savior. As the wise man's gift, it was an "oil of gladness," offered in homage to the new-born King. As He suffered upon the cross, He was offered the same substance, mingled with wine to alleviate his pain, but He rejected it.)

On their journey to Bethlehem, the Magi probably travelled a distance of slightly more than 1000 miles, a trip that required anywhere from three to nine months by camel.

They probably followed the great caravan route across the Syrian desert with its scorching winds, to the oasis of Tadmor (Palmyra), and on to Damascus, then southward until they forded the Jordan near Jericho.

After properly interpreting their dreams, however, they returned by some other and probably more circuitous route.

Scripture, unfortunately, does not tell us what became of these spiritually enlightened men of the East in the years that followed.

According to tradition, they were later baptized by the apostle Thomas. In the Cathedral at Cologne are relicts said to be the remains of the wise men, which St. Helena discovered in Persia and had brought to Constantinople. They were moved to Milan, Italy in the fifth century and from there transferred to Cologne in 1163.

The Constitution has 22 amendments.

Out Of The Air

HAL HUMPHREY

'Year Of The Big Lecture'

This is the season of the lecture on TV. Dr. Zorba lectures young Ben Casey on his bedside manner while treating a maniac-depressive with homicidal tendencies, whose mother won't have him committed because she hates him and wants to see him kill Dr. Casey.

Hal Humphrey

Then there is Capt. Holbrook ("The Detectives") lecturing one of his young detectives on how best to handle a juvenile delinquent who pushes dope to kindergarten kids and winds up knocking off his 5-year-old sister after she turns him in for not filing his fourth-quarter income tax return.

Atty. Lawrence Preston ("The Defenders") constantly lectures son Ken, who also is an attorney, on the beauty of compromising his principles. Pa Cartwright ("Bonanza") holds regular fireside lectures to impress on sons Hoss, Adam and Little Joe how important it is to own half of Nevada. (But why doesn't he tell them about girls?)

WE HAVE Donna Reed lecturing her husband and Danny Thomas lecturing his kids. After astronaut Glenn made his famous flight, I was disappointed when they didn't call in Charles Lindbergh to say:

"John, you looked A-OK all the way except for that landing. Missing the U.S.S. Randolph by 75 miles was sloppy judgment on your part. Imagine the disappointment if I hadn't reached Le Bourget that night in 1927 at Paris! Keep your systems working better next time, okay?"

Lectures from the masterful old head to the young but eager whippersnapper have been made so popular by TV that the idea has reached epidemic proportions.

JUST LAST WEEK I happened to walk into a Hollywood agent's office right after he had broken the news to actor Zip Down that he had been signed to star in a new TV series, "The Zip Down Show."

"Now look, Zip, Baby, I want to give you a few facts of life about starrin' in a series," said the agent, as he opened his lecture to our neophyte.

"First off, I want you should forget you're an actor. In a series there is no time for acting. Next summer I'll get you in "Cleopatra' with Liz Taylor. Don't worry, they'll still be makin' it.

"The next thing, forget about your wife and family. You won't be going home for at least 26 weeks. Sure, you get out of the studio on weekends, but that's when we hit the supermarket openings and address the workers at the sponsor's branch factories. You thought maybe this would be a picnic, huh, Baby?

"NOW REMEMBER, no hanky-panky with Brenda Barnstrom. She's just your wife on the series. If your own wife divorces you, it's an automatic five-point drop in your Neilsen rating.

"But what I really wanta impress on you is keeping your mouth shut in fronta these newspaper guys. Pop off to them how tired ya' are, and how ya' wanna get back to doing Shakespeare, and they'll print it.

"Then I got the network on my neck because the sponsor is lookin' around for somebody who knows how to keep his mouth shut. Sure, it's tough, Baby, but it's tough for everybody.

"LOOK AT DANNY THOMAS and Dick Boone. Every year they're quittin', but you notice they only say this around the sponsor's option time. Then should the sponsor decide he's tired of the series and drops it, Danny and Dick just say, 'We're quittin' anyway,' and then it looks like the sponsor is tryin' to save face, see?

"One more thing, Zip. Getta hobby. Play golf, ride a motorcycle or maybe go skin diving, huh? Sure, I know you got no time for anything but the series, but all you do is tell your press agent, and he takes some pictures of you on a motorcycle or in the diving suit, okay?

"Whatta you mean, what happens to your art in this kinda rat race? Mighosh, Zip, with any luck, the 'Zip Down Show' runs three seasons. With your 25 per cent of the action plus residual rights, you gotta come out with three, maybe four million dollars. So let me worry about the art.

"With that kinda dough you can buy a Picasso. I'll even get one for you wholesale, okay?"

Taft Declares Administration Perils Liberty

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Ohio senator, says President Kennedy's administration is a threat to liberty and free enterprise.

Taft, seeking the Republican nomination for Ohio congressman-at-large, spoke Thursday night to 200 persons at a GOP dinner meeting at nearby Mentor. "We see a grab by the executive branch for power over the legislative, and control of the federal government over state and local governments," he said.

Taft said it was the job of the Republicans to check what he called the move away from the principles that made America great. He cited the proposed medical care for the aged program as a "grab which could spread to control the whole medical area."

Audit Report For Midland Shows $5,048

Midland Council Thursday evening accepted a report from its auditors for 1961, which shows the borough began 1962 with a balance of $5,048.33 in the bank with receipts of $453,218.71 and disbursements of $448,170.38.

Expenditures included administration, $52,147.58; protection, police, fire, personal property, $94,265.78; health and sanitation, $60,512.07; highways, $65,880.47; recreation, $25,198.16; insurance and miscellaneous, $42,932.18, and debt service, $66,687.60.

Receipts included current taxes of $244,664.19 and $70,586.72 collected in the occupation tax.

The Highway Fund had a balance of $11,019.66 Jan. 1, and the Pension Fund, $9,919.85. Current assets were listed at $99,967.42 and total assets at $1,626,967.42. A breakdown was also given on the borough's bond indebtedness.

The report was submitted by Crum Dimeff, Mrs. Norma J. Liberatore and Steve Luketich, borough auditors. It was accepted on a motion by Councilman Raymond Presutti.

Council also approved a motion of Presutti that Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, advertise for bids for a second police car. The bids are to be opened at Council's meeting April 12. A 1960 Dodge is being traded in.

Council will also open bids at its next meeting March 22 for a new cruiser. A 1960 Ford is being traded in. The cars are traded in every two years since repair bills begin to mount.

Council approved a request of Bill Yee, Rotary Club member and chairman of the Midland Easter Seal Campaign, for use of a fire truck for an Easter Seal parade April 14 at 6 p.m on motion by Councilman Steve Germusa.

Germusa reported on traffic congestion in the two-way section of Ohio Ave., between 4th and 5th Sts. He said that in talks with Mayor Eli Corak, both agreed something should be done. He turned the problem over to the traffic committee and will work with it.

Ohio Ave. is one-way east except for that block which contains the 4th St. School and a church. Germusa said the parking is bad there. He said he would be in favor of condemning lots in that area for off-street parking.

Borough officers' reports were accepted as submitted without a former reading on a motion by Presutti. Bills in the amount of $6,296.70, including $100 fees each for the three auditors, were ordered paid.

Warden At Midland Sets Roundup Of Dogs

As the result of numerous complaints, Robert Stevenson, Midland humane officer, said Thursday he will begin picking up dogs running at large and those without licenses.

He said dog owners had an opportunity to purchase licenses Feb. 23 at the Borough Building and have no excuse if their dogs lack licenses.

He said many complaints have been received from Midland Heights where "dogs are becoming a menace." He said he will prosecute owners of dogs without a license. The penalty is a fine or imprisonment or both.

The 1961 dog licenses expired in January.

Demonstrators Are Outwitted By British Official

LONDON (AP) — Demonstrators at the London School of Economics shouted antinuclear slogans and hurled rolls of toilet paper at Defense Minister Harold Watkinson when he made a speech at the school Thursday. Then they staged a sit-down around his automobile.

On the platform he pointed to the paper debris around him. "I don't think you're very good shots," he said. "Perhaps not as good a shot as I was when a student."

"We never thought he'd do that," said a demonstrator. "I'm afraid he foiled our little plan."

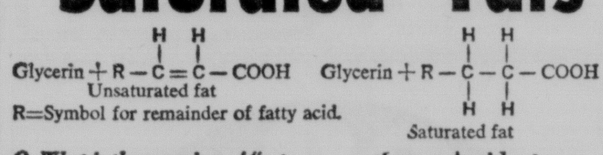
Meaning of "Saturated" Fats



R=Symbol for remainder of fatty acid.

Q. What is the meaning of "saturated" (and "unsaturated") as applied to fats?

A. Fats consist of glycerin in chemical combination with "fatty acids." Fatty acids in which one or more "double bonds" are present are called "unsaturated" (incompletely hydrogenated). Fats containing such acids are also called "unsaturated" and are of liquid consistency at normal temperatures (vegetable oils, for example). The addition of hydrogen ("hydrogenation") to such fats removes the double bonds in the fatty acid portion to produce "saturated" fats. These are of solid or semi-solid consistency at normal temperatures (shortenings, tallow, etc.).

Happy Accidents

Q. We learned in our Science Class about the accidental discovery of penicillin. Do such happy accidents occur very often in medicine?

A. Quite often. However, far from being accidents, such discoveries are usually the result of keen observation by the inquisitive scientific mind. Your class may be interested in a more recent "accident" leading to an antibiotic. In the 1880's, when microbiology was in its infancy, there were numerous outbreaks of food poisoning attributed to cheddar-type cheese. At the same time it was observed that such outbreaks were never caused by Limburger cheese. Furthermore, Limburger doesn't get moldy. Would it have occurred to you to ask, "Why?" It did to two University of Chicago scientists who, last year, set out to determine what it is in Limburger that protects it from food poisoning germs and from mold spoilage. The protective substance turned out to be an antibiotic that may prove of value in food processing.

HAL HUMPHREY

'Year Of The Big Lecture'

This is the season of the lecture on TV. Dr. Zorba lectures young Ben Casey on his bedside manner while treating a maniac-depressive with homicidal tendencies, whose mother won't have him committed because she hates him and wants to see him kill Dr. Casey.

Hal Humphrey

Then there is Capt. Holbrook ("The Detectives") lecturing one of his young detectives on how best to handle a juvenile delinquent who pushes dope to kindergarten kids and winds up knocking off his 5-year-old sister after she turns him in for not filing his fourth-quarter income tax return.

Atty. Lawrence Preston ("The Defenders") constantly lectures son Ken, who also is an attorney, on the beauty of compromising his principles. Pa Cartwright ("Bonanza") holds regular fireside lectures to impress on sons Hoss, Adam and Little Joe how important it is to own half of Nevada. (But why doesn't he tell them about girls?)

WE HAVE Donna Reed lecturing her husband and Danny Thomas lecturing his kids. After astronaut Glenn made his famous flight, I was disappointed when they didn't call in Charles Lindbergh to say:

"John, you looked A-OK all the way except for that landing. Missing the U.S.S. Randolph by 75 miles was sloppy judgment on your part. Imagine the disappointment if I hadn't reached Le Bourget that night in 1927 at Paris! Keep your systems working better next time, okay?"

Lectures from the masterful old head to the young but eager whippersnapper have been made so popular by TV that the idea has reached epidemic proportions.

JUST LAST WEEK I happened to walk into a Hollywood agent's office right after he had broken the news to actor Zip Down that he had been signed to star in a new TV series, "The Zip Down Show."

"Now look, Zip, Baby, I want to give you a few facts of life about starrin' in a series," said the agent, as he opened his lecture to our neophyte.

"First off, I want you should forget you're an actor. In a series there is no time for acting. Next summer I'll get you in "Cleopatra' with Liz Taylor. Don't worry, they'll still be makin' it.

"The next thing, forget about your wife and family. You won't be going home for at least 26 weeks. Sure, you get out of the studio on weekends, but that's when we hit the supermarket openings and address the workers at the sponsor's branch factories. You thought maybe this would be a picnic, huh, Baby?

"NOW REMEMBER, no hanky-panky with Brenda Barnstrom. She's just your wife on the series. If your own wife divorces you, it's an automatic five-point drop in your Neilsen rating.

"But what I really wanta impress on you is keeping your mouth shut in fronta these newspaper guys. Pop off to them how tired ya' are, and how ya' wanna get back to doing Shakespeare, and they'll print it.

"Then I got the network on my neck because the sponsor is lookin' around for somebody who knows how to keep his mouth shut. Sure, it's tough, Baby, but it's tough for everybody.

"LOOK AT DANNY THOMAS and Dick Boone. Every year they're quittin', but you notice they only say this around the sponsor's option time. Then should the sponsor decide he's tired of the series and drops it, Danny and Dick just say, 'We're quittin' anyway,' and then it looks like the sponsor is tryin' to save face, see?

"One more thing, Zip. Getta hobby. Play golf, ride a motorcycle or maybe go skin diving, huh? Sure, I know you got no time for anything but the series, but all you do is tell your press agent, and he takes some pictures of you on a motorcycle or in the diving suit, okay?

"Whatta you mean, what happens to your art in this kinda rat race? Mighosh, Zip, with any luck, the 'Zip Down Show' runs three seasons. With your 25 per cent of the action plus residual rights, you gotta come out with three, maybe four million dollars. So let me worry about the art.

"With that kinda dough you can buy a Picasso. I'll even get one for you wholesale, okay?"

Taft Declares Administration Perils Liberty

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Robert Taft Jr., son of the late Ohio senator, says President Kennedy's administration is a threat to liberty and free enterprise.

Taft, seeking the Republican nomination for Ohio congressman-at-large, spoke Thursday night to 200 persons at a GOP dinner meeting at nearby Mentor. "We see a grab by the executive branch for power over the legislative, and control of the federal government over state and local governments," he said.

Taft said it was the job of the Republicans to check what he called the move away from the principles that made America great. He cited the proposed medical care for the aged program as a "grab which could spread to control the whole medical area."

Audit Report For Midland Shows $5,048

Midland Council Thursday evening accepted a report from its auditors for 1961, which shows the borough began 1962 with a balance of $5,048.33 in the bank with receipts of $453,218.71 and disbursements of $448,170.38.

Expenditures included administration, $52,147.58; protection, police, fire, personal property, $94,265.78; health and sanitation, $60,512.07; highways, $65,880.47; recreation, $25,198.16; insurance and miscellaneous, $42,932.18, and debt service, $66,687.60.

The Highway Fund had a balance of $11,019.66 Jan. 1, and the Pension Fund, $9,919.85. Current assets were listed at $99,967.42 and total assets at $1,626,967.42. A breakdown was also given on the borough's bond indebtedness.

The report was submitted by Crum Dimeff, Mrs. Norma J. Liberatore and Steve Luketich, borough auditors. It was accepted on a motion by Councilman Raymond Presutti.

Council also approved a motion of Presutti that Mrs. C. K. O'Hara, borough secretary, advertise for bids for a second police car. The bids are to be opened at Council's meeting April 12. A 1960 Dodge is being traded in.

Council will also open bids at its next meeting March 22 for a new cruiser. A 1960 Ford is being traded in. The cars are traded in every two years since repair bills begin to mount.

Council approved a request of Bill Yee, Rotary Club member and chairman of the Midland Easter Seal Campaign, for use of a fire truck for an Easter Seal parade April 14 at 6 p.m on motion by Councilman Steve Germusa.

Germusa reported on traffic congestion in the two-way section of Ohio Ave., between 4th and 5th Sts. He said that in talks with Mayor Eli Corak, both agreed something should be done. He turned the problem over to the traffic committee and will work with it.

Ohio Ave. is one-way east except for that block which contains the 4th St. School and a church. Germusa said the parking is bad there. He said he would be in favor of condemning lots in that area for off-street parking.

Borough officers' reports were accepted as submitted without a former reading on a motion by Presutti. Bills in the amount of $6,296.70, including $100 fees each for the three auditors, were ordered paid.

Warden At Midland Sets Roundup Of Dogs

As the result of numerous complaints, Robert Stevenson, Midland humane officer, said Thursday he will begin picking up dogs running at large and those without licenses.

He said dog owners had an opportunity to purchase licenses Feb. 23 at the Borough Building and have no excuse if their dogs lack licenses.

He said many complaints have been received from Midland Heights where "dogs are becoming a menace." He said he will prosecute owners of dogs without a license. The penalty is a fine or imprisonment or both.

The 1961 dog licenses expired in January.

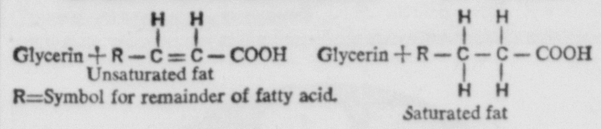
Meaning of "Saturated" Fats



R=Symbol for remainder of fatty acid.

Q. What is the meaning of "saturated" (and "unsaturated") as applied to fats?

A. Fats consist of glycerin in chemical combination with "fatty acids." Fatty acids in which one or more "double bonds" are present are called "unsaturated" (incompletely hydrogenated). Fats containing such acids are also called "unsaturated" and are of liquid consistency at normal temperatures (vegetable oils, for example). The addition of hydrogen ("hydrogenation") to such fats removes the double bonds in the fatty acid portion to produce "saturated" fats. These are of solid or semi-solid consistency at normal temperatures (shortenings, tallow, etc.).

Happy Accidents

Q. We learned in our Science Class about the accidental discovery of penicillin. Do such happy accidents occur very often in medicine?

A. Quite often. However, far from being accidents, such discoveries are usually the result of keen observation by the inquisitive scientific mind. Your class may be interested in a more recent "accident" leading to an antibiotic. In the 1880's, when microbiology was in its infancy, there were numerous outbreaks of food poisoning attributed to cheddar-type cheese. At the same time it was observed that such outbreaks were never caused by Limburger cheese. Furthermore, Limburger doesn't get moldy. Would it have occurred to you to ask, "Why?" It did to two University of Chicago scientists who, last year, set out to determine what it is in Limburger that protects it from food poisoning germs and from mold spoilage. The protective substance turned out to be an antibiotic that may prove of value in food processing.

Exercise Help The Swing Into Spring

No matter where fashion puts the waistline this spring — upswept to a new high, or right there where nature intended it to be — a slim waist is always fashion's darling.

Ida Jean Kain

By the way, that high - rising waistline calls for a slim, supple midriff. This is a demanding style, but the limbering exercises that achieve this willowy effect can help you to feel lithe and limber.

With a stretch-bend routine you can doff the duffle at the waist and streamline that span between waist and wishbone. The stretching action is on the laterial muscles, extending from under arms to below waistline. This is one of those muscular dead - areas, because the average adult is so unbending!

A WELL-STRETCHED body makes for flexibility and ease of motion. There is nothing like it to help you come alive, to stay young and supple. So zippity-do-da. . .s-t-r-e-t-c-h!

ACTION: BEND gently to the right; make this a slow, smooth bend. . .then circle around in front and over to the other side and up. Do not attempt a backward bend. No exercise movement should be jerky.

If music is available, exercise to a lilting waltz. . .stretch and bend, circle and swing. . .it's almost like dancing. Speaking of dancing, why not join a class in modern dance? You'll have the time of your young middle-age life!

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for leaflet, "For A Slimmer Midriff." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Ohio Sen. Pepple Takes Punch At Foreign Aid Plan

CLEVELAND (AP)—State Sen. Ross Pepple of Lima spoke out Thursday against foreign aid on what he called a strictly loan basis.

Pepple, now serving his sixth term in the Ohio Senate and seeking the Republican nomination for U.S. Senator, covered a variety of subjects in a news conference.

Pepple said of foreign aid:

"If a man has credit and it is presumed he will make good on it, then extend him a loan."

To several other questions, Pepple gave these answers:

"I am very much disturbed at the reckless spending in Washington. We are being led right downhill to the sunset.

"I would go further than breaking relations with Cuba. We have permitted a foreign power to establish itself right under our noses. It's ridiculous."

He said he didn't think enough about the John Birch Society to take a stand, but added:

Firemen In Glenmoor Test New Fog Nozzle

The department used the new device in quelling a blaze in a junk car on Melbourne Ave. Developed by Earsle Chesnut, a member of the department and a pressman at The Review, the new device has twin fog nozzles mounted on copper tubing. The equipment allows firemen to stand at a safe distance while spraying a dense "fog" of water on an auto fire, firemen commented.

Eighteen participated in a driver training class before the department's meeting. At the next meeting March 22, the State Highway Patrol will conduct a class on driving emergency vehicles and Asst. Chief Frank Rizer will explain use of equipment such as resuscitators.

Slate Backed By Democrats

The Midland Democratic committee has endorsed a slate for the election of 10 committeemen and committeewomen, one each for the borough's five precincts, in the May 15 primary.

Rudolph Presutti, acting town chairman, said the slate includes Atty. Robert Masters and Mrs. Joseph Hibbard in the First Precinct; George Griffin and Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy, Second; Steve Germusa and Mrs. Marge Evans, Third; Joseph Spanik and Mrs. Fredericka Folks, Fourth, and John Uccellini and Mrs. Rachel Sheperd, Fifth.

All are incumbents except Mrs. Folks, who will replace Mrs. Norma Jean Liberatore, now a borough auditor.

Presutti said those chosen will meet and elect officers for the Midland party. Officers are elected every two years. Presutti, who was vice chairman, has been serving as chairman since Mayor Eli Corak was named Beaver County chairman.

Committeemen and committeewomen elected all over the county in May will meet later and elect the party's county committee officers.

Ohio Truck Driver Dies In Illinois Wreck

JOLIET, Ill. (AP)—Ray Murray, 29, of Middletown, Ohio, was killed Thursday night when the semi-trailer truck he was driving went out of control on a hill, left the road and smashed into the porch of a house.

Crest Hill police said the accident occurred on Theodore Street, the main road between Joliet and nearby Crest Hill. Murray's body was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Joliet.

Murray's Middletown address was 1809 Highland Ave.

Gift Of Buttermilk Due John Glenn Sr.

The senior Glenn said that during his son's three orbits around the world he spent his time drinking buttermilk. Clark said he would like Glenn Sr. to enjoy the product as it is made in Canada. The buttermilk is expected to arrive in New Concord Saturday.

Stanton Vs. Hiland For District Title

Most of the seats in the 5,000 plus Diocesan Arena at Steubenville are expected to be filled when an attractive District Tournament doubleheader is presented Saturday night.

The reward to the winners in Class A and AA competition will be a trip to the regional firing next week.

In the opener Saturday at 7:30 p. m., Stanton Local's undefeated Raiders meet Berlin Hiland of Holmes County for the Class A District title. About 9 p. m., Steubenville Big Red squares off with Martins Ferry for the Class AA crown.

Hiland made it to the District finals Thursday night by disposing of Conotton Valley, 58-43 at Brilliant. Hiland will bring a fine record of 22-2 into the Arena Saturday night. Conotton Valley showed an 18-4 mark before last night's contest.

Martins Ferry was pressed Thursday night on its own court before coming away with a 72-66 victory over Zanesville. Big Red dumped Uhrichsville Wednesday night.

Led by big Don Spires, Stanton Local captured a 75-64 decision over Dennison to make its way into Saturday's finals. Spires poured 42 points through the hoops Wednesday night at Brilliant.

Coach Harry Diehl's Raiders haven't been defeated in 23 games while Hiland fell to Garaway in the season's opener and to Strasburg in the fourth game of the campaign. The Hiland five will be bringing a 19-game streak into Saturday's contest.

Majors Open Exhibition Card Saturday

Mets, Houston To Make National Loop Debuts

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league baseball's exhibition season opens Saturday with New York and Houston making their National League debuts and Manager Fred Hutchinson of the pennant-winning Cincinnati Reds wearing the crown of man-most-on-the-spot.

Hutchinson was ceded top honors Thursday by Al Dark of the San Francisco Giants, whose most pressing problem was settled when NL home run king Orlando Cepeda ended his holdout by agreeing to terms for an estimated $46,000.

While the Reds hold the spotlight, attention in American League circles will be focused on Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where the world champion New York Yankees and 61-homer hammerer Roger Maris open against the Baltimore Orioles.

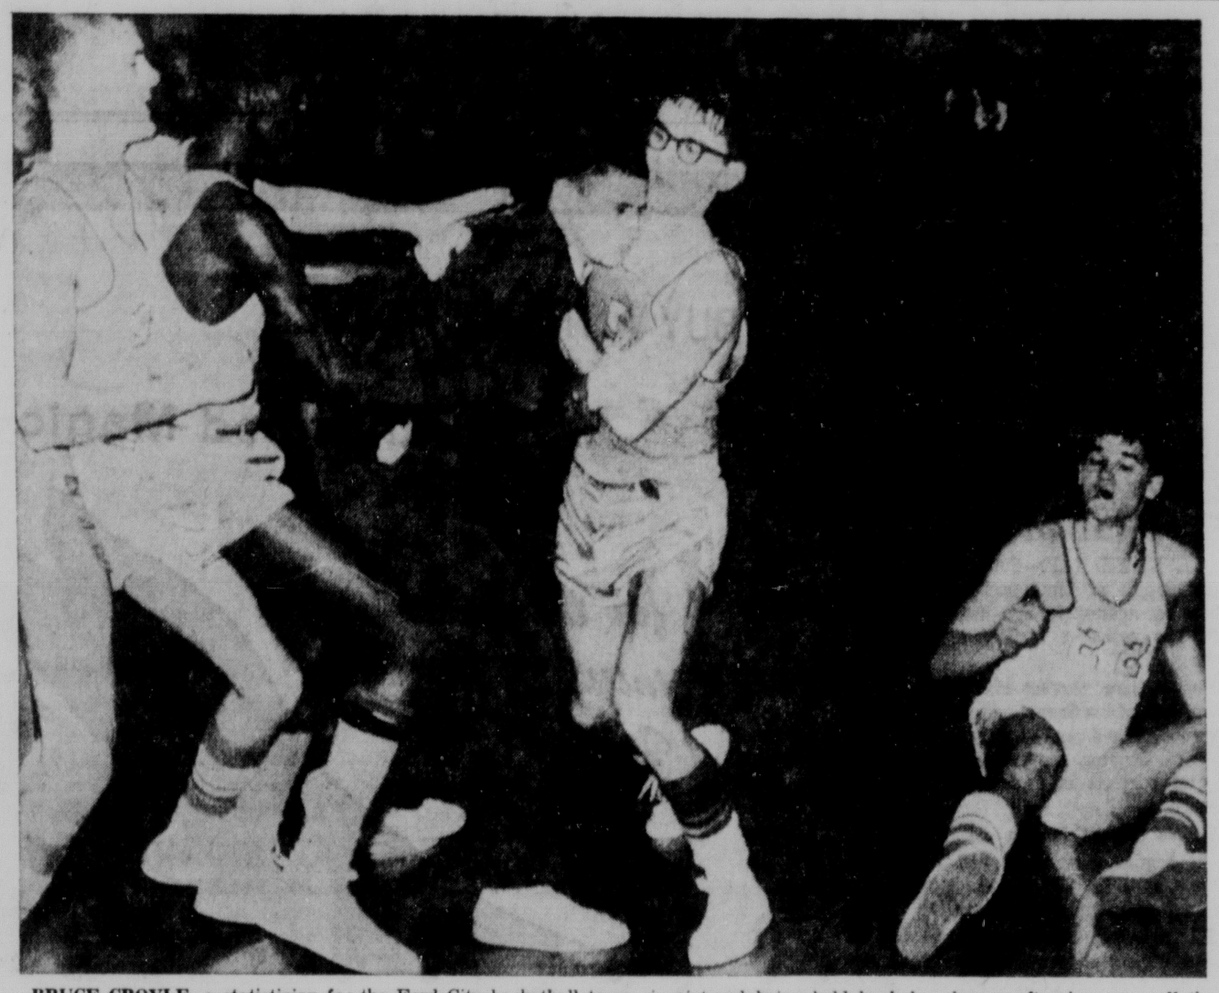
Rounding out the expanded 10-game schedule are Los Angeles (N) vs. Kansas City at Vero Beach, Fla.; Milwaukee vs. Detroit at Lakeland, Fla.; Philadelphia vs. Minnesota at Orlando, Fla.; Pittsburgh vs. Washington at Fort Myers, Fla.; Chicago (N) vs. Boston at Mesa, Ariz.; and San Francisco vs. Cleveland at Tucson, Ariz.

Hutchinson's prime concern is a replacement for Gene Freese, hard-hitting third baseman who produced 26 homers last year but will be sidelined for three months with a right ankle fracture suffered in an intra-squad game.

Cliff Cook, trying to make the big leagues after a 1961 season at Indianapolis in which he hit .311 with 32 homers and 119 RBI, is getting a trial run. If he doesn't make it, outfielder Frank Robinson may have to switch to the infield.



BRUCE CROYLE, a statistician for the Ford City basketball team, is pictured being held back by players after he came off the bench to knock Linn Stoner (22) of Farrell down in the fourth quarter of the Ford City-Farrell game Thursday at the Pitt Fieldhouse. Ford City won, 49-38. (UPI Telephoto)

His Finest Hour . . .

The finest hour in the high school basketball career of Don (The Stilt) Spires came Wednesday night on the Brilliant High floor.

With a big victory grin on his face, Spires, drying himself after a well-deserved shower, said, "Yes, they bumped me around a good bit out there." And the 6-foot-6 star had some battle scars to prove it.

During the time he was leading Stanton into the District finals, and breaking his school record, Spires was knocked to the floor on several occasions without a foul being called. However, the officials did call enough fouls on Dennison to send Spires to the line for 18 shots.

In scoring 42 points, breaking his old record by a point, Spires took only 15 shots from the field and made 13. From the foul line he had 16 for 18. If this isn't great shooting for a high school basketball player, we don't know what is.

Stanton has a sound club, but had to depend on Spires Wednesday night and he came through in championship form.

THE actions by Dennison players in the late stages of the District Class A contest were the worst we have witnessed.

Three technical fouls were called on one player and he was banished from the game. The Dennison player stood in the middle of the court and abused the officials and Stanton fans in an obscene manner.

There was quite a contrast in the calm and collected actions of Coach Harry Diehl's Stanton team—a tribute to Diehl and the school itself.

Dawson Given Farewell . . .

THEY gave Bob Dawson a real farewell at Bowling Green State University last week when the Falcons played their final game of the home season against Detroit.

A five-minute ovation was accorded Dawson as he walked off the floor in his final home game for Bowling Green, the eighth-ranked team in the country.

"Falcon followers will have to say goodbye tonight to one of the most popular cagers at Bowling Green in sometime. Capt. Bobby Dawson is the only senior on Harold Anderson's squad. Dawson, an East Liverpool standout, has been a real leader of the current squad. He has carried the best shooting percentage for several weeks, currently holding a .503 figure, he led the Mid-American shooting column last week at .506.

"Bob's high-scoring effort came in last year's Miami game with 23. This season he hit 18 against Kent State for the top showing.

Then Cunningham, adding a person note, commented: "Bob, as you move into the twilight zone of your Bowling Green career, we can only join your many admirers in wishing you well for the future."

BOWLING Green is pretty much up against it in the NCAA tournament. The Falcons will open Monday at Lexington, Ky., facing Butler. The winner of that game must go up against Kentucky at Iowa City. If Bowling Green would get by Kentucky, guess who will be waiting? Ohio State!

This N 'That In Sports . . .

DOWN in the Southwest Conference, 22 basketball referees used by that Conference volunteered to take lie detector tests in the wake of disclosures that some of them are being investigated in connection with reports they have conspired with gamblers to control the outcome of games.

Results of the tests were to be turned over only to the supervisor of conference officials.

EAST Palestine's Sam Hirt claimed all but the rebounding honors in the final basketball statistics released by Marietta College.

Hirt topped the team in scoring with 361 points for an 18.1 average in 20 outings. He also led in field goal percentage and in free throw percentage. His two top performances were 28 - point nights against Hiram and Waynesburg.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Hirt, 405 W. North Ave., East Palestine.

A RECORD of three wins and 15 defeats wouldn't sound like much to most basketball coaches, but to Bud Manes, an East Liverpool High grad, it represents what he hopes is the start of a hard climb to a winning campaign at Thiel College.

Thiel's three victories were two more than the Tomcats registered a year ago when they didn't win until the final game of the season.

JOSEPH D'Alesio, president of United Steelworkers Union Local 1212 at Midland, reported that the local recently donated $400 to the Colt League in East Liverpool.

He said the money was donated since many steelworkers of Local 1212 reside in this area and have boys who play in the league.

Stanton Vs. Hiland For District Title

Most of the seats in the 5,000 plus Diocesan Arena at Steubenville are expected to be filled when an attractive District Tournament doubleheader is presented Saturday night.

The reward to the winners in Class A and AA competition will be a trip to the regional firing next week.

In the opener Saturday at 7:30 p. m., Stanton Local's undefeated Raiders meet Berlin Hiland of Holmes County for the Class A District title. About 9 p. m., Steubenville Big Red squares off with Martins Ferry for the Class AA crown.

Hiland made it to the District finals Thursday night by disposing of Conotton Valley, 58-43 at Brilliant. Hiland will bring a fine record of 22-2 into the Arena Saturday night. Conotton Valley showed an 18-4 mark before last night's contest.

Upsets Have Been Few

List Of 88 Teams Remain In Ohio Tourney Running

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Only 88 of Ohio's 933 high school basketball teams were still in action today—but most of the highly-touted talent were among the survivors of the district tournaments.

Upsets have been few while 845 quintets have been belted to the sidelines in the lose-and-out tournaments leading up to the March 23-24 state championship contests.

But some of the top-ranked aspirants must get out of the way tonight and Saturday in the finals of the district tournaments. When the smoke clears Saturday night, only 16 of the 500 Class A teams and 16 of the 433 Class AA squads will be around—all qualifiers for next week's regional tournaments.

Two mild upsets cropped up Thursday night. Youngstown Liberty, last year's Class A finalist which graduated to Class AA and hoped to make it back to the state finals again, was dumped 69-57 by Youngstown South—a team Liberty had beaten 90-68 during the regular campaign. It was Liberty's second loss in 24 games. South is now 17-4.

The other unexpected result was the 48-47 loss by Columbiana to Lakeview in Class A at Canton. The colorful Columbiana Clippers, 1947 state champions, had a 17-3 record to Lakeview's 19-5 going into the game.

Newark's Wildcats, three - time state champions, continued on the Cinderella trail when they trampled Columbus East's 1951 Class AA winners 62-44. Newark is now 13-10. Gahanna Lincoln, which upset two unbeaten teams — Reynoldsburg and Grove City—trimmed Columbus Linden McKinley 50-34 to move into Saturday's district finals against Newark at Columbus.

Martins Ferry defeated Zanesville 72-66 in a battle of ex-champions at Martins Ferry. Zanesville won the state title in 1926 and 1955, and Ferry in 1941. The winners carry a 19-3 record into Saturday's district finals against Steubenville (17-4).

Cleveland Heights made it 17-4 for the year with a 62-57 win over Cleveland St. Ignatius—and faces the dubious honor of meeting top-ranked Cleveland East Tech, 1958-59 champion, in Saturday's district finals at Bedford. The favored Scarabs have a 20-0 record.

In Class A, Zanesville Rosecrans defeated Lawrence of Washington County 65-53 at New Concord to set up a battle of the unbeatens Saturday night for a regional spot at Athens. Rosecrans has a 22-0 record. Beverly Fort Frye, Saturday's foe, is 23-0 and ranked sixth in the state.

New Lebanon Dixie, coached by canny Columbus Hines, nipped Arcanum's 1956 Class A state champs 67-54 at Dayton. Each team went into the fray with a 21-1 record. Dixie meets Westmont (17-6) Saturday for a Troy Regional spot.

Sixth-ranked Dayton Roosevelt (19-3) vs. seventh-ranked Dayton Chaminade (19-1) at Dayton for a Cincinnati Class AA Regional berth; second - ranked Hamilton Taft (21-0) vs. Hamilton Garfield (12-6) at Middletown; fourth-rated Mansfield St. Peter (23-0) vs. Norwalk (18-2) at Marion; fifth-ranked Toledo Central Catholic (20-1) vs. Toledo Libbey (10-10) at Toledo; and 10th-rated Marietta (20-1) vs. Hillsboro (16-4) at Athens.

Class A features tonight are: top-rated and defending champion Ayersville (23-0) vs. Hamler (21-3) at Defiance; second-ranked Alger (23-0) vs. seventh-rated Fostoria St. Wendelin (19-2) at Tiffin; and 10th-ranked Carlisle (20-2) vs. Russellville (23-1) at Cincinnati.

Westminster Ace Leads Little All-America Five

By TED MEIER
AP Basketball Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Ronnie Galbreath, a ball control artist from Westminster (Pa.) College, and Roger Strickland, of Jacksonville (Fla.) University, hailed as possibly the most talented college player in America, are the sparkplugs of the 1962 basketball Little All-America selected by The Associated Press.

Named on the first team with the 6-foot-0 Ronnie and the 6-5 Roger were 6-2 Bob Mahland of Williams (Mass.), 6-9 Zelmo Beaty of the top-ranked Prairie View (Tex.) Panthers and 6-8 Charles Hardnett of Grambling (La.). Mahland and Hardnett are repeaters from the 1961 Little A-A. All are seniors except Strickland, a junior.

The praise for Strickland, a transfer from Notre Dame, comes from Bill Kastelz, of the Florida Times-Union in Strickland's home town of Jacksonville.

"Strickland, at 6-5 and 215 pounds, is very possibly the most talented college basketball player in America today," Kastelz said.

Strickland is the nation's amall college scoring leader while Mahland, of Garden City, N.Y., set a career scoring record at Williams of 1,272 points, breaking a mark that stood for 57 years. Beaty of Cleveland, Tex. and Hardnett, of Atlanta, Ga., the "big boys" of the team, were rated tops.

Picked as a second team, on the basis of votes from more than 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Marvin Trotman of Elizabeth City (N.C.) Teachers, labeled a great pro prospect; Richie Swartz of Hofstra (N.Y.); Kenny Saylors of Arkansas Tech, Dick Vories of Georgetown (Ky.) and Lanny Johnson of Northeast Louisiana. Homer Thurman, a freshman at Midland (Neb.), regarded by his followers as the "greatest small college player in the country — bar none;" Billy Barnes, who lead Florida A&M to 25 straight victories; Jim Ahrens of Buena Vista (Iowa); Al Thrasher of Wittenberg (Ohio) and Gary Auten of Kentucky Wesleyan were chosen as a third team.

Members of the first three teams each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Jim Jordan To Speak At Chester Fete

Atty. James Jordan of Chester, former All-American basketball player at the University of North Carolina, will be speaker at the annual Chester High School varsity basketball banquet Saturday night at 6 at the Chester Masonic Temple.

Some 125 are expected to attend the event sponsored by the Football and Basketball Mothers. Awards will be given to squad members, and fathers, coaches, managers and cheerleaders will be guests.

Celts Going Like 60; Need 3 To Get There

By The Associated Press

The Celts, aiming for a season record total of victories in the National Basketball Association, won their 57th Thursday night—a 108-102 decision over the Chicago Packers, who wound up setting a record in reverse. The loss was the 59th for the new Packers, topping by one the low mark of 58 for one season established by New York last season.

NCAA To Pick Up 2 Squads Tonight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Half the remaining field for both the NCAA and NIT, the nation's two big post-season college basketball tournaments, will be decided in a couple of key games tonight.

The Texas Tech-Southern Methodist playoff in Fort Worth will determine the Southwest Conference representative in the NCAA, and the winner of the Temple-St. Joseph's match in Philadelphia gets another of the four remaining berths in the 25-team tourney.

The loser in Philadelphia takes one of the two remaining spots in the 12-team NIT. The loser in Fort Worth simply calls it a season.

Each figures to be a tough one. In each case the opponents have season records that almost duplicate each other.

Tech, the defending champion, and SMU tied for the conference lead with 11-3 records. Doc Hayes' SMU Mustangs are 16-6 for the season, and Polk Robinson's Red Raiders from the Panhandle are 17-7. They split in regular season play, Tech taking the first 69-63 and SMU winning the second 68-63, one of eight straight closing triumphs for the Mustangs.

Temple and St. Joe's each is 9-1 in the Mid-Atlantic Conference, with St. Joseph's climbing into a share of the top spot on the strength of a 78-68 triumph over Lafayette Tuesday.

Temple is 17-7 for the season, St. Joseph's 17-8. In a previous meeting, also on the Philadelphia Palestra floor where they'll play tonight, St. Joseph's managed a 53-49 squeaker.

The first of eight NCAA regional small college tourneys opened in Evansville, Ind., Thursday night with Evansville taking North Carolina A&T 97-82 and Southern Illinois blasting Union (Tenn.) 78-56. The winners meet tonight.

The other seven regionals start tonight.

Victories by a couple of major tourney entrants, New York University and St. John's, in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader featured Thursday night's light schedule.

NYU, which will play a first round game in the NCAA against Yankee Conference champion Massachusetts next week, edged Fordham 67-63.

St. John's, which opens play in the NIT next week, got a 32-point performance from 6-foot-10 Leroy Ellis in an 88-64 rout of Manhattan.

In other major activity, Texas whipped Texas Christian 73-61 in the makeup of a previously postponed Southwest Conference game, Oklahoma beat Missouri 63-55 and Boston College closed out with a 76-62 victory over Boston University.

Friend Looks For Best Year With 1926 Bucs

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Bob Friend, the solid financier of the Pittsburgh Pirates, after a careful study of all available indices, believes 1962 will be a sound and prosperous year.

For him and the Pirates, anyway.

Take the cyclical fluctuations in his won and lost record, for instance. He has alternated a winning season and a losing season for the last six years.

Last year he was 14-19 for a .424 average. That means he should be ready for an 18-12, .600, season such as he had in 1960 when the Pirates won the world championship.

Or take the matter of luck. Last year the Pirates were shut out 14 times, and Friend was the victim of six or nearly half of the occasions when the Pirates couldn't produce a run. He also lost four other decision by a single run. Such misfortune should end.

"I think this could be my best year," he says. "I weigh 192 now and I pitch at 195. I worked out all winter with the boys in Pittsburgh on a definite program of stretching exercises, and came down here early. My legs are good. I have no arm trouble."

Friend, a thoughtful, well-spoken Purdue graduate, has been with the Pirates since 1951 and is 31 years old.

He owns an apartment building in Pittsburgh and modestly admits to putting away a little money. That should be possible on his salary which is said to be around $40,000, earned as one of the best right-handed pitchers in the National League. In the winter he works as a mutual fund salesman.

If Friend has another big year and his pitching mate, Vern Law, comes back, the Pirates could very well bound back from 1961's sixth place to 1960's first place and the world championship.

Falcons Put 2 Players On League Team

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, the Mid-American Conference champion, placed two players on the All - Conference basketball team selected today by the seven loop coaches. The team, however, included only one senior.

Bowling Green, which moves into the NCAA tournament next week, had two unanimous choices on the first team — Nate Thurmond, a 6-foot-10½ junior, and Howard Komives, a 6-foot-1 sophomore from Toledo.

Rounding out the first team were Larry Jones of Toledo, the only other unanimous selection, and Manny Newsome of Western Michigan, who led the conference in scoring with 305 points.

Runner-up Ohio University led the second team selections with sophomore Jerry Jackson and senior Bill Whaley. Others on the second string were Bob Burgess of Marshall, Harvey Hunt of Kent State and Ray Wolford of Toledo. Hunt and Burgess also were on the second team last year.

Anderson, Owen Pace Team To Y-Member Title

"Jumpin" Joe Anderson fired in 32 points and Bob Owen whistled 26 markers through the nets to provide Anderson's with an 87-58 victory over Cline's and the YMCA Member League championship Thursday at the "Y".

Ex-Paratrooper New AAU Head

NEW YORK (AP)—A tough, 48-year-old ex-paratrooper took over as boss of America's amateur sports today with the vow that U.S. athletes will be second to none.

"The President has said our country cannot accept an inferior posture in anything—space, science or sports," Col. Don Hull said. "Our job is to see that we have the best athletes in the world."

Mazur Leads At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Peter Mazur, a man who never has won a pro golf tournament, was in a rare position today as play entered the second round of the $20,000 Pensacola Open Tournament.

Mazur started with a bogey on the first hole and wound up with 10 birdies on the par 36-36—72, 6,700-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

He has played all tournaments so far this year and only made the cutoff at Baton Rouge. He finished out of the money there.

His round was a stroke better than the recognized course record of 64 set by Al Geiberger two years ago, but was a stroke over the 62 shot by Bob Rosburg in 1959 when the easier winter rules were in effect.

A stroke farther back were Doug Sanders; Don Fairfield, Pensacola titleholder in 1956; and young Jerry Steelsmith, at 67.

Westminster Ace Leads Little All-America Five

By TED MEIER
AP Basketball Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—Ronnie Galbreath, a ball control artist from Westminster (Pa.) College, and Roger Strickland, of Jacksonville (Fla.) University, hailed as possibly the most talented college player in America, are the sparkplugs of the 1962 basketball Little All-America selected by The Associated Press.

Named on the first team with the 6-foot-0 Ronnie and the 6-5 Roger were 6-2 Bob Mahland of Williams (Mass.), 6-9 Zelmo Beaty of the top-ranked Prairie View (Tex.) Panthers and 6-8 Charles Hardnett of Grambling (La.). Mahland and Hardnett are repeaters from the 1961 Little A-A. All are seniors except Strickland, a junior.

Galbreath, who hails from Wampum, Pa., put Westminster in the national spotlight when the Titans upset Pitt and ranking Duquesne.

"Strickland, at 6-5 and 215 pounds, is very possibly the most talented college basketball player in America today," Kastelz said.

Strickland is the nation's amall college scoring leader while Mahland, of Garden City, N.Y., set a career scoring record at Williams of 1,272 points, breaking a mark that stood for 57 years. Beaty of Cleveland, Tex. and Hardnett, of Atlanta, Ga., the "big boys" of the team, were rated tops.

Picked as a second team, on the basis of votes from more than 100 sportswriters and radio-TV broadcasters, were Marvin Trotman of Elizabeth City (N.C.) Teachers, labeled a great pro prospect; Richie Swartz of Hofstra (N.Y.); Kenny Saylors of Arkansas Tech, Dick Vories of Georgetown (Ky.) and Lanny Johnson of Northeast Louisiana. Homer Thurman, a freshman at Midland (Neb.), regarded by his followers as the "greatest small college player in the country — bar none;" Billy Barnes, who lead Florida A&M to 25 straight victories; Jim Ahrens of Buena Vista (Iowa); Al Thrasher of Wittenberg (Ohio) and Gary Auten of Kentucky Wesleyan were chosen as a third team.

Members of the first three teams each will receive a certificate from The Associated Press.

Jim Jordan To Speak At Chester Fete

Atty. James Jordan of Chester, former All-American basketball player at the University of North Carolina, will be speaker at the annual Chester High School varsity basketball banquet Saturday night at 6 at the Chester Masonic Temple.

Some 125 are expected to attend the event sponsored by the Football and Basketball Mothers. Awards will be given to squad members, and fathers, coaches, managers and cheerleaders will be guests.

Celts Going Like 60; Need 3 To Get There

By The Associated Press

The Boston Celtics are goin' like 60 and with three more victories they'll be there.

The Celts, aiming for a season record total of victories in the National Basketball Association, won their 57th Thursday night—a 108-102 decision over the Chicago Packers, who wound up setting a record in reverse. The loss was the 59th for the new Packers, topping by one the low mark of 58 for one season established by New York last season.

Falcons Put 2 Players On League Team

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, the Mid-American Conference champion, placed two players on the All - Conference basketball team selected today by the seven loop coaches. The team, however, included only one senior.

The lone fourth year man to make the dream team was Miami's LeVern Benson, who was second in the conference scoring race.

Bowling Green, which moves into the NCAA tournament next week, had two unanimous choices on the first team — Nate Thurmond, a 6-foot-10½ junior, and Howard Komives, a 6-foot-1 sophomore from Toledo.

Rounding out the first team were Larry Jones of Toledo, the only other unanimous selection, and Manny Newsome of Western Michigan, who led the conference in scoring with 305 points.

Runner-up Ohio University led the second team selections with sophomore Jerry Jackson and senior Bill Whaley. Others on the second string were Bob Burgess of Marshall, Harvey Hunt of Kent State and Ray Wolford of Toledo. Hunt and Burgess also were on the second team last year.

NCAA To Pick Up 2 Squads Tonight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Half the remaining field for both the NCAA and NIT, the nation's two big post-season college basketball tournaments, will be decided in a couple of key games tonight.

The Texas Tech-Southern Methodist playoff in Fort Worth will determine the Southwest Conference representative in the NCAA, and the winner of the Temple-St. Joseph's match in Philadelphia gets another of the four remaining berths in the 25-team tourney.

The loser in Philadelphia takes one of the two remaining spots in the 12-team NIT. The loser in Fort Worth simply calls it a season.

Each figures to be a tough one. In each case the opponents have season records that almost duplicate each other.

Tech, the defending champion, and SMU tied for the conference lead with 11-3 records. Doc Hayes' SMU Mustangs are 16-6 for the season, and Polk Robinson's Red Raiders from the Panhandle are 17-7. They split in regular season play, Tech taking the first 69-63 and SMU winning the second 68-63, one of eight straight closing triumphs for the Mustangs.

Temple and St. Joe's each is 9-1 in the Mid-Atlantic Conference, with St. Joseph's climbing into a share of the top spot on the strength of a 78-68 triumph over Lafayette Tuesday.

Temple is 17-7 for the season. St. Joseph's 17-8. In a previous meeting, also on the Philadelphia Palestra floor where they'll play tonight, St. Joseph's managed a 53-49 squeaker.

The first of eight NCAA regional small college tourneys opened in Evansville, Ind., Thursday night with Evansville taking North Carolina A&T 97-82 and Southern Illinois blasting Union (Tenn.) 78-56. The winners meet tonight.

The other seven regionals start tonight.

Victories by a couple of major tourney entrants, New York University and St. John's, in a Madison Square Garden doubleheader featured Thursday night's light schedule.

NYU, which will play a first round game in the NCAA against Yankee Conference champion Massachusetts next week, edged Fordham 67-63.

St. John's, which opens play in the NIT next week, got a 32-point performance from 6-foot-10 Leroy Ellis in an 88-64 rout of Manhattan.

In other major activity, Texas whipped Texas Christian 73-61 in the makeup of a previously postponed Southwest Conference game, Oklahoma beat Missouri 63-55 and Boston College closed out with a 76-62 victory over Boston University.

Friend Looks For Best Year With 1926 Bucs

By TED SMITS
Associated Press Sports Editor

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Bob Friend, the solid financier of the Pittsburgh Pirates, after a careful study of all available indices, believes 1962 will be a sound and prosperous year.

For him and the Pirates, anyway.

Take the cyclical fluctuations in his won and lost record, for instance. He has alternated a winning season and a losing season for the last six years.

Last year he was 14-19 for a .424 average. That means he should be ready for an 18-12, .600, season such as he had in 1960 when the Pirates won the world championship.

Or take the matter of luck. Last year the Pirates were shut out 14 times, and Friend was the victim of six or nearly half of the occasions when the Pirates couldn't produce a run. He also lost four other decision by a single run. Such misfortune should end.

Or consider his attitude and physical condition.

"I think this could be my best year," he says. "I weigh 192 now and I pitch at 195. I worked out all winter with the boys in Pittsburgh on a definite program of stretching exercises, and came down here early. My legs are good. I have no arm trouble."

Friend, a thoughtful, well-spoken Purdue graduate, has been with the Pirates since 1951 and is 31 years old.

He owns an apartment building in Pittsburgh and modestly admits to putting away a little money. That should be possible on his salary which is said to be around $40,000, earned as one of the best right-handed pitchers in the National League. In the winter he works as a mutual fund salesman.

If Friend has another big year and his pitching mate, Vern Law, comes back, the Pirates could very well bound back from 1961's sixth place to 1960's first place and the world championship.

Anderson, Owen Pace Team To Y-Member Title

"Jumpin" Joe Anderson fired in 32 points and Bob Owen whistled 26 markers through the nets to provide Anderson's with an 87-58 victory over Cline's and the YMCA Member League championship Thursday at the "Y".

Ex-Paratrooper New AAU Head

NEW YORK (AP)—A tough, 48-year-old ex-paratrooper took over as boss of America's amateur sports today with the vow that U.S. athletes will be second to none.

"The President has said our country cannot accept an inferior posture in anything—space, science or sports," Col. Don Hull said. "Our job is to see that we have the best athletes in the world."

Mazur Leads At Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Peter Mazur, a man who never has won a pro golf tournament, was in a rare position today as play entered the second round of the $20,000 Pensacola Open Tournament.

Mazur started with a bogey on the first hole and wound up with 10 birdies on the par 36-36—72, 6,700-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

He has played all tournaments so far this year and only made the cutoff at Baton Rouge. He finished out of the money there.

His round was a stroke better than the recognized course record of 64 set by Al Geiberger two years ago, but was a stroke over the 62 shot by Bob Rosburg in 1959 when the easier winter rules were in effect.

A stroke farther back were Doug Sanders; Don Fairfield, Pensacola titleholder in 1956; and young Jerry Steelsmith, at 67.

PARACHUTES

QUESTION: Who made the first parachute jump?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Louis Sebastien Lenormand made the first parachute jump in 1783, from a high tower in France. Inventors had been working on parachutes for at least a century, but Lenormand's was the first that worked. After the jump, others improved the device and jumped from towers and balloons, as in the picture above. The first jump from an airplane was made 129 years later by Capt. Albert Berry. Capt. Berry had a problem the earlier jumpers did not. When men jumped from towers, or even from balloons, their problem was only to make certain the parachute was properly spread out before they hit the ground. Capt. Berry had to be certain to stay clear of the plane and the propellers. The danger of the parachute or its lines becoming caught up in the plane was so great that the United States didn't use parachutes at all during World War I. After that war they found ways to lessen the danger, and it was used as a standard piece of equipment. Parachutes today are being used for landing men and equipment where there is not enough room for an airplane to land.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a small parachute out of a handkerchief or a tiny piece of nylon cloth. Tie string onto it at the corners. Then attach a pencil and drop the parachute from a porch or a window. Later, drop the pencil without the parachute. You can see the difference in speed that a parachute can make.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

The counting system didn't work for me because my smart guy used paper tissue to remove the lipstick. It was his shirts that finally did him in. I discovered one day that he was not returning at night in the same shirt he had worn in the morning.

When the facts were uncovered and his dirty laundry was hung out to dry, I found that half of his wardrobe was in a one-room apartment downtown — hanging with black lace lingerie.

"Heaven's Gift to Woman" now has a fourth wife who is counting his handkerchiefs and I am supporting his three kids.

Had I known that the child-support laws in this country were so archaic and utterly useless I would have washed and ironed without counting. It would have been much easier to keep my trap shut, and live in the hope that one day some babe's husband would put a hole in his head.—COUNT DOWN.

A Straight Answer

Dear Ann: My wife and I are faced with a serious problem.

We have a 4-year-old daughter who is bright and sensitive. My wife and I were thrilled at the news that another baby was on the way. We told Cindy that God was sending her a new baby sister or brother in January. She was very pleased and talked of little else for weeks.

Our little son was born with a damaged heart and lived only 10 days. Cindy cannot understand why God sent her a baby brother and then took him away.

We don't know how to handle the problem. Shall we stop talking about the little brother and pretend he never existed? Would this be easier on Cindy?

Please give us some advice. We need it desperately—T AND C.

Dear T and C: It would be wise to stop talking about the little brother, but to pretend that he didn't exist would be unrealistic and harmful. The youngster would soon sense that your story was a clumsy masking of the truth and then you'd have far more serious trouble. It would shake her confidence in your integrity and she might become fearful and insecure.

Children know that animals and flowers die. Use animals and flowers as examples when explaining the mysteries of death. And be sure to give Cindy the comforting thought that all things happen for the best and that God always makes the right decision.

Enough Said

Dear Ann: Let this be the last word on the row in your column over the chaste brides. It seems to me there are an awful lot of stupid or unrealistic people around.

Why is it that nobody says anything about the history of the groom? Does that white flower in his lapel signify purity? If this were true there would be darned few white flowers sold.

No man who has been around the track has the right to insist that his bride be of the lily-white variety. Yet some do.

At the same time, just to round out this cockeyed picture, visualize, if you will, a girl demanding that her groom be pure. She'd be laughed right out of town as some kind of nut or something.—LUNATIC FRINGE.

Confidentially

TO GOOSEFLESH: Wake up, Little Dreamer. Fantasy may be fun but you can't live in a world of make-believe — and believe me, Lollypop, that's what your world is.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

On Cultural Exchange Pact

Benny Goodman, Band To Visit In Russia Soon

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, where kings and jazz officially are decadent, soon will have both in a visit by Benny Goodman, "The king of swing."

A two-year cultural exchange agreement signed Thursday by American and Soviet officials will boost by 10 to 15 per cent the number of exchange visits of teachers, technicians, artists, officials, athletes and others between the two countries. An estimated 2,000 exchanges a year were carried out under the 1960-1 agreement.

This will be the first time a Goodman jazz group has played in the Soviet Union.

But, U.S. negotiators prevailed after pointing out that Goodman has performed with classical music groups in this country and will be able to do the same in the Soviet Union as well as play jazz.

The New York City Ballet and the Robert Shaw Chorale are also slated to tour the Soviet Union this year, while the Soviet Union is sending to the United States the Bolshoi Theater Ballet, the Leningrad Philharmonia Symphony Orchestra and the Ukrainian Dance Ensemble.

Both sides hailed the expanded agreement as a step forward in U.S.-Soviet relations, otherwise bogged down in cold war disputes. The negotiations had been under way at the State Department since January.

Music Figure Dies

Profits Reported

CINCINNATI (AP) — Card players bought enough decks to give United States Playing Card Co. profits of $2.3 million last year, the company says. In a report to shareholders, the firm said it earned $1.50 per share last year, compared to $1.30 per share in 1960 when net profits amounted to $2.2 million.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the wife who counted her husband's handkerchiefs to check on his fidelity brought back some memories.

The counting system didn't work for me because my smart guy used paper tissue to remove the lipstick. It was his shirts that finally did him in. I discovered one day that he was not returning at night in the same shirt he had worn in the morning.

When the facts were uncovered and his dirty laundry was hung out to dry, I found that half of his wardrobe was in a one-room apartment downtown — hanging with black lace lingerie.

"Heaven's Gift to Woman" now has a fourth wife who is counting his handkerchiefs and I am supporting his three kids.

Had I known that the child-support laws in this country were so archaic and utterly useless I would have washed and ironed without counting. It would have been much easier to keep my trap shut, and live in the hope that one day some babe's husband would put a hole in his head.—COUNT DOWN.

A Straight Answer

Dear Ann: My wife and I are faced with a serious problem.

We have a 4-year-old daughter who is bright and sensitive. My wife and I were thrilled at the news that another baby was on the way. We told Cindy that God was sending her a new baby sister or brother in January. She was very pleased and talked of little else for weeks.

Our little son was born with a damaged heart and lived only 10 days. Cindy cannot understand why God sent her a baby brother and then took him away.

We don't know how to handle the problem. Shall we stop talking about the little brother and pretend he never existed? Would this be easier on Cindy?

Please give us some advice. We need it desperately—T AND C.

Dear T and C: It would be wise to stop talking about the little brother, but to pretend that he didn't exist would be unrealistic and harmful. The youngster would soon sense that your story was a clumsy masking of the truth and then you'd have far more serious trouble. It would shake her confidence in your integrity and she might become fearful and insecure.

Children know that animals and flowers die. Use animals and flowers as examples when explaining the mysteries of death. And be sure to give Cindy the comforting thought that all things happen for the best and that God always makes the right decision.

Enough Said

Dear Ann: Let this be the last word on the row in your column over the chaste brides. It seems to me there are an awful lot of stupid or unrealistic people around.

Why is it that nobody says anything about the history of the groom? Does that white flower in his lapel signify purity? If this were true there would be darned few white flowers sold.

No man who has been around the track has the right to insist that his bride be of the lily-white variety. Yet some do.

At the same time, just to round out this cockeyed picture, visualize, if you will, a girl demanding that her groom be pure. She'd be laughed right out of town as some kind of nut or something.—LUNATIC FRINGE.

Confidentially

TO GOOSEFLESH: Wake up, Little Dreamer. Fantasy may be fun but you can't live in a world of make-believe — and believe me, Lollypop, that's what your world is.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

On Cultural Exchange Pact

Benny Goodman, Band To Visit In Russia Soon

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, where kings and jazz officially are decadent, soon will have both in a visit by Benny Goodman, "The king of swing."

A two-year cultural exchange agreement signed Thursday by American and Soviet officials will boost by 10 to 15 per cent the number of exchange visits of teachers, technicians, artists, officials, athletes and others between the two countries. An estimated 2,000 exchanges a year were carried out under the 1960-1 agreement.

This will be the first time a Goodman jazz group has played in the Soviet Union.

Communist negotiators first balked at including the clarinetist in the exchange. Red officialdom frowns on jazz as a demented bourgeois product.

But, U.S. negotiators prevailed after pointing out that Goodman has performed with classical music groups in this country and will be able to do the same in the Soviet Union as well as play jazz.

The New York City Ballet and the Robert Shaw Chorale are also slated to tour the Soviet Union this year, while the Soviet Union is sending to the United States the Bolshoi Theater Ballet, the Leningrad Philharmonia Symphony Orchestra and the Ukrainian Dance Ensemble.

Both sides hailed the expanded agreement as a step forward in U.S.-Soviet relations, otherwise bogged down in cold war disputes. The negotiations had been under way at the State Department since January.

Music Figure Dies

Profits Reported

CINCINNATI (AP) — Card players bought enough decks to give United States Playing Card Co. profits of $2.3 million last year, the company says. In a report to shareholders, the firm said it earned $1.50 per share last year, compared to $1.30 per share in 1960 when net profits amounted to $2.2 million.
